Southern Bell Facing Sunday Strike Threat

Negotiators Quit
Friday Without Reaching Accord

ATLANTA, March 11—Possibility of a strike of some 50,000 Southern Bell Telephone Co. workers in nine southeastern states increased today as negotiators recessed without reaching agreement.

W. A. Smallwood, district 3 director for the CIO Communications Workers of America, warned there would be a strike unless a satisfactory agreement is worked out before midnight Sunday when the present contract expires.

"The most hopeful interpretation that can be placed upon today's events at the bargaining table is that, at least, negotiations have not gone into the deep freeze," he said. Negotiators will meet again tomorrow.

"In the event of a strike, we will offer to provide emergency service on all lines and switchboards throughout the nine southeastern states," he continued in a statement.

"Only a rejection of our offer of emergency service on the part of the telephone company could prevent our living up to that pledge."

Southern Bell continued to stand firm against a union proposal to arbitrate remaining differences and for its demand that a new contract include a no-strike clause.

F. M. Malone, personnel vice president, said in a statement after today's session that "collective bargaining is a two-way street but even at this late hour union leaders are still clinging to one-way demands that don't make sense."

"We have yet to receive from the union a practical proposal," he continued. "They still refuse to give any realistic answer to the obvious need for a no-strike clause."

"They still want a contract that will permit them to call quickie strikes against the public any where and any time they wish. That continues to be the real issue holding up a settlement."

Smallwood said the no-strike issue was a very real one, but that wages remained the fundamental

Man Fatally Shot In Back; Suspect Sought By Police

A former Mangham, La., man, recently moved to Monroe, was slain last night by an unidentified assailant in front of a colored cafe at Oak and Vicksburg street.

Dead was James S. (Bobby) Wilhite, a Negro about 32 years of age.

Wilhite's body was sprawled in the Oak Leaf cafe late last night while police and hundreds of spectators swarmed the place.

There was no positive identification of the attacker last night, but police were still looking for a suspect shortly before midnight.

Wilhite was shot around 10 p.m.

Jim Goodjoint, a cousin to the slain man, said he was with Wilhite when he was shot. He said he went with Wilhite toward the car parked outside the cafe when the occupant of the car called Wilhite out.

"Come here, I want to talk to you," Goodjoint quoted the killer as saying.

"As we approached the car, I realized the man had a gun," Goodjoint said. "And I took Bobby by the arm and we turned around and headed back for the cafe."

He said there was no argument. As they neared the door the shotgun rang out, sending its load into Wilhite's back. He lurched into the cafe and died.

Goodjoint, and several other witnesses, said the man who fired the gun drove away as soon as he shot Wilhite.

An ambulance from Good Citizen Funeral Home was waiting to remove the body while Dr. J. T. French, coroner, and police investigated details.

Violent Windstorms, Tornadoes Rip Through Eastern Third Of U. S.

By The Associated Press

The season's biggest crop of tornadoes and thunderstorms ripped across the eastern third of the nation Friday, killing at least two persons, injuring a score and causing property damage in the millions.

The twisters highlighted a violent outbreak of March weather over large areas of the country.

Thunderstorms doused the sodden Ohio River Valley basin hard on the heels of the river's worst flood in seven years. However, the U. S. Weather Bureau at Pittsburgh saw no new flood threat resulting.

Winds up to 70 miles an hour sent the winter's worst dust storms boiling over the southern and central Great Plains. Half of Colorado's three million acres of winter wheat was ripped out.

A cool front, expanding eastward into moist and almost summerlike warmth, triggered the chain of tornadoes and thunderstorms.

Hardest hit was a 45-mile area extending from Connorsville north-eastward to Union City in Indiana, Leontona in Columbia County and Steubenville in Jefferson County in Ohio and the southwestern Pennsylvania area around Pittsburgh.

Winds up to 92 miles an hour buffeted much of the area.

The storm struck east central Indiana shortly after 2 a.m., swept on into Ohio and then into Pennsylvania. Buffeting winds were felt in New York's Steuben County.

Wind-driven rain pelted parts of western Maryland and West Virginia. A mild squall line passed out to sea from New Jersey late Friday morning.

The twisters tore down power lines, toppled television and radio towers, blew a freight car off its track and unroofed homes and buildings.

Damage in Pennsylvania was estimated well in excess of a million dollars. Damage also was expected to pass the million-dollar mark in Ohio. Indiana counted nearly $1 million dollar damage in two cities and insurance adjusters say claims from rural areas will hit the highest total in recent years.

Throughout much of the hardest hit area, toppled trees and fallen poles with their mesh of wires blocked some roads.

Girl Planning To Hatch Goose Eggs

MIAMI, Fla., March 11 (AP)—A 19-year-old girl will try to hatch nine goose eggs here by sitting on them 29 days.

The publicity stunt begins tomorrow afternoon at a service station and drive-in restaurant where the girl is a waitress.

Blonde, blue-eyes Patricia Ann Godbee had contracted to sit in a chair with the eggs embedded in the seat for 29 days, at the rate of $10 a day.

The chair will tilt back so she can sleep and she'll get periodic four-minute rest periods. A doctor will check her condition occasionally.

The goslings, if she succeeds in hatching them, will be auctioned off. The girl said she would "kiss booties for them" while she sat in the chair.

Shivers Offers His Testimony In Land Frauds

Giles Insinuates
Texas Governor In
On Huge Profits

AUSTIN, March 11—UP—Gov. Allan Shivers Friday called for a full airing of all facts on veterans land matters and himself offered to testify before legislative committees or grand juries.

He explained his views in letters to the chairman of the House and Senate committees investigating alleged fraud in the multi-million dollar land program and to eight district attorneys.

Grand juries in eight counties are investigating fabulous profits made by certain promoters at the expense of the state in sale of land to veterans.

Shivers' statement apparently was prompted by a remark attributed to Former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles who has been indicted by two grand juries in connection with his operation of the General Land Office.

A newsman asked Giles if he felt he was being made a "fall guy" in the land inquiry and would he have something to say about Shivers and Shepherd.

Giles said "plenty" without specifically mentioning either state official. Giles himself was not available for comment but his attorney, C. C. Small, said Giles did not intentionally make any reference to the governor or attorney general. "We have no disposition to make threats or boasts," Small said.

Giles posted $50,000 bond at San Antonio Thursday. Previously he had posted $50,000 bond on a case at Austin alleging conspiracy to steal $83,500 from the land board.

"A statement reportedly made yesterday at San Antonio concerning the veterans land program involved an insinuation apparently involving me," Shivers said.

"As I have said many times in the past, I want the full facts on all veterans land program matters developed and made public. Anyone who has violated the law should be punished."

"I repeat my earlier pledges to cooperate in every way possible. I will be glad to appear before any investigating committee, any grand jury or any other properly authorized group to testify publicly if anyone feels that by so doing I could be helpful."

Shivers and Attorney General John Ben Shepperd are the other two members of the Veterans Land Board along with the land commissioner.

Giles reportedly said he would have "plenty" to say in court when

The next lecture given in Monroe March 15 by the Explorers club — the club that takes one around the world without leaving his comfortable easy chair — will be by Commander Finn Ronne, photographer, scientist, explorer.

He was a member of Admiral Byrd's expedition and years later led the famed Ronne expedition on which this lecture film is based.

The topic of his lecture will be the "Antarctic Conquest."

Commander Ronne enjoys the unusual distinction of having discovered the United States a larger area of new territory than any other single explorer in our history.

He was reared in his native Norway, where an atmosphere of exploration and adventure predominated. His father was a member of Amundsen's expedition when the famous Norwegian explorer discovered the South Pole in 1911.

As usual, foreign foods, well suited to the land that is to be explored at the lecture, will predominate. A delightful evening is assured all who attend, state those in charge.

Democrats Scoff At Idea Of Using Superhighways For Evacuation Of Cities

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Senate Democrats scoffed today at the idea that President Eisenhower's proposed superhighways could evacuate cities in an atomic attack.

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.) said a network of high-speed interstate roads wouldn't be "worth a darn" for that purpose. He said they'd soon become jammed.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, author of the administration's road program, was in the witness chair before the Senate Public Roads subcommittee as McNamara and other Democrats stated their views.

Clay had listed evacuation of cities as one of several reasons for the proposed interstate network. He said today he didn't think "any complete evacuation is possible, but I believe you could get a lot more people out on good roads."

McNamara said one accident on a superhighway would choke off traffic. "I can't visualize the system lasting for 10 minutes with people running for their lives," he said. "Personally I would rather try the back alley. I think I'd have a better chance of getting out."

"The freshman Michigan senator said he took the position that a vastly expanded highway program is needed more to boost the nation's economy than to solve its atomic evacuation problems."

Clay said "to my mind, the economic need is so great you don't need any other reasons." He added it would be "economic folly" not to go ahead.

Chairman Gore (D-Tenn.), who has shared McNamara's "grave doubts about the feasibility of evacuating a city like New York."

Gore, McNamara and other Democrats also criticized the administration's financing plan. Under it the federal government would put up 21 billion dollars during the next 10 years to finance the network. The money would come from federal borrowing through a bond issue and would involve an interest charge of about 11 1/2 billions over 30 years.

Clay, who headed a special presidential committee on highways, said his group had considered all financing possibilities and agreed the bond program was "the most conservative."

The bonds would be retired with proceeds from the federal two-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax. Sen. Case (R-SD) questioned whether Congress would be willing to earmark the gas tax revenues in this manner.

McNamara said he thought it would be wiser to raise the gas tax and have the highway user pay "for roads and not interest charges."

Under questioning by Sen. Thurmond (D-SC), Clay said raising the tax to four cents would put the President's highway program on a pay-as-you-go basis. But he said he thought that in the long run fewer roads would be built under such a program.

During an informal discussion after the luncheon Kennon, in response to a question from one of the newsmen, said he thought "Ainsworth and Fant would make an excellent team" in the approaching governor's race.

Ainsworth is president pro-tem of the Senate and chairman of the Legislative Council. Fant, who served two terms as mayor, is now an insurance executive in Shreveport. He was formerly president of the Louisiana Municipal Association.

Asked which of the two he would prefer in the top role, Kennon replied, "Either one. They're both excellent men and would make an excellent team. They could run either way."

Kennon apparently was not committing himself on support but merely answering questions put to him by the newsmen.

Kennon said he would favor the next governor retaining Grevenberg as head of the state police agency.

SIR ALEXANDER FLEMING

Discoverer Of Penicillin Dies Of Heart Ailment

LONDON, March 11 (AP)—Sir Alexander Fleming, discoverer of penicillin and thus one of mankind's greatest benefactors, died today of a heart ailment. He was 73.

The famed bacteriologist collapsed shortly after having breakfast in bed at his home. Lady Fleming, 43, a Greek war heroine and scientist, was at his side when he died.

It was she who nursed him through pneumonia in 1953—and penicillin was credited with helping greatly toward his recovery.

World honors, including the 1945 Nobel prize for medicine—which he shared with two coworkers—and a British knighthood, showered down on the kindly, shy Scotsman, but he never made a profit out of his discovery. The gifts he received from admirers he used to further his work.

Flood Crests At Louisville; Light Damage Inflicted

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 11 (AP)—The crest of the most severe Ohio River flood in seven years drifted toward the stream's mouth today, leaving 14 million dollars in damage from Louisville to Pittsburgh.

In its first display of mercy, the muddy river leveled off here today considerably under the crest it had promised.

It stopped rising shortly before last midnight after reaching 36.8 feet, 8.8 feet above flood stage. The U. S. Weather Bureau declared that reading as its crest 24 hours later when no further rise was noted. A 39.5 crest had been predicted.

Greater Louisville was left virtually unscathed, although high waters licked menacingly at some outlying areas.

Two riverside golf courses were covered, many roads were under water and a few businesses and houses were damaged. Flood reduction facilities—levees, floodwalls and upstream reservoirs—limited the Louisville area damage to an estimated one million dollars.

The damage upriver to Pittsburgh already had been set at 13 million dollars.

Col. W. D. Milne, district U. S. engineer, said today Louisville was saved 1 1/4 million dollars in damages by levees and floodwalls. He said the crest would have been 3 1/2 feet higher here except for reservoirs holding back much water at the Ohio's headwaters.

The torrent was inching back toward the river bed at all upstream points, leaving a major cleanup job from the mud and debris left behind.

About 25 square blocks in Cincinnati were flooded before the river crested there yesterday morning.

On downstream at Carrollton, Ky., about midway between Louisville and Cincinnati, several hundred persons had to leave their homes. Carrollton is one of the few river cities without floodwall protection.

The water invaded streets and residential districts of Madison, Aurora and Utica, Ind., but damage was expected to be minor.

Crests are expected to be reached by early next week at all points below Louisville, including Owensboro, Henderson and Paducah, Ky., Evansville, Ind., and Shawneetown and Cairo, Ill., where the Ohio dumps into the Mississippi River.

Jury Returns Life Sentence With Verdict

I Still Say I'm Innocent, Fuller
Says Of Decision

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 11—UP A jury convicted former Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller Friday of murdering the man who vowed to wipe out Phenix City's crime empire and fixed his punishment at life in prison.

At the end of a 26-day trial the verdict was reported by a circuit court jury which deliberated only six hours and 40 minutes over a mass of circumstantial evidence and an alibi.

Fuller, moon-faced former gun-toting deputy accused of taking a fabulous rakeoff from slot machines in the bawdy river town of Phenix City, was convicted of the first degree murder of Albert Patterson.

Patterson, 61-year-old vice foe, was shot down in a Phenix City alley back of his law office last June 18 only three weeks after winning nomination as state attorney general in a hotly disputed Democratic primary.

Stony faced as he had been through most of the trial, Fuller showed no emotion at the verdict. Not so his wife, who fought back tears as she sat in a back row of the crowded jury room that had been cleared briefly for a search for arms before the verdict was read.

"I still say I'm innocent—innocent all the way," Fuller said as he was led from the courtroom under heavy guard. He appeared shaken as the impact of the sentence hit him but replied "fine boy, how are you?" when a reporter asked him how he felt.

But as he vanished into the Jefferson county jail Fuller was observed weeping slightly.

"I am very much surprised at the verdict; the worst I expected was a mistrial," said fiery defense attorney Roderick Beddow. He said he would move for a new trial immediately and, that failing, appeal the verdict and sentence.

"The state had sought the electric chair for Fuller, 'just as he shot down Albert Patterson' in a 'dastardly' crime."

"I thought the evidence justified the death penalty, but I cannot criticize the jury for the verdict which they returned," said special prosecutor Cecil Deason. "I was in earnest when I asked for the death penalty."

Deason, who scored his biggest courtroom victory since he expelled the Ku Klux Klan from Alabama seven years ago, had found witnesses who placed Fuller at the scene of Patterson's assassination just before and just after the shooting. One of them, the "ace" around whom the whole case eventually revolved, said he saw Fuller walk into an alley with Patterson, heard shots and saw he believed to be former prosecutor Arch Ferrell, who also faces trial.

Mrs. Eisenhower

Suffers 'Slight'

Heart Condition

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The White House physician reported today that Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has a slight heart condition but he said it never has handicapped her in performing her official duties.

"Her health is and always has been basically good," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

Snyder added that the President's wife was up and about after having been confined to bed since Monday with the flu.

The physician's statement came in response to a reporter's inquiry after the first lady's health became a subject of political controversy yesterday.

Snyder said Mrs. Eisenhower's "slight heart condition probably results from an undiagnosed case of rheumatic fever in adolescence." He said he was saying "probably" because "nothing in her medical history indicates that she ever was actually diagnosed as having rheumatic fever."

He said he frequently has watched her shake hands with as many as 1,500 persons at a social affair "without its working any great physical hardship on her."

supporters of Centenary college choir will be delighted with its annual presentation on Friday March 25 in Brown auditorium. There are 49 young vocalists in the cast, three of whom are from the Twin Cities.

The Monroe students are Elvis Stout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron T. Stout, Oscar Cloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cloyd, and Beverly Aldridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Aldridge, of West Monroe, is in the cast.

Directed by Alvin C. Voran, the Centenarians have been recognized for their talents and termed Shreveport's Singing Ambassadors by home town papers.

In years past, they have appeared before civic and religious groups in Dallas, New Orleans, and many of the leading cities of the south.

They have sung for seven Lions International conventions, starting in 1947 in San Francisco and also in Chicago in 1953. They have in their travels, appeared over major national radio networks. In their home area they have been sponsored by a local utility company in a 13-week television series.

The choir officers are: president, Joe Pollard, Leesville; vice-president, Douglas Peterson, Bossier City; coed vice-president, Beverly Aldridge, West Monroe; treasurer, David Moore, Shreveport; secretary, Mital Lowe Middlebrooks, Haynesville.

Accompanists are Mary Jane Carter, Blanchard and Ruby Bloxon, Shreveport.

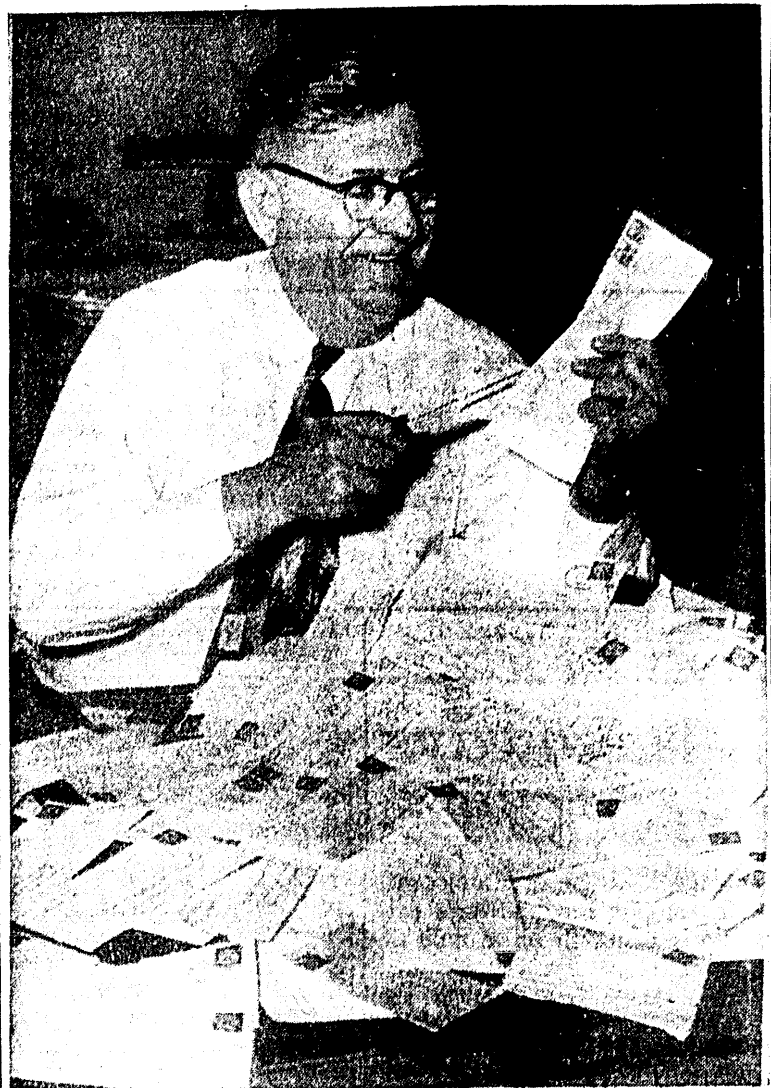

Mrs. Earl Hammer, 2401 North Seventh street, West Monroe, has some ambitious and wholly unorthodox Rhode Island Reds. They seem to be far to the left of things when it comes to laying.

For example she brought to the News-Star — World office yesterday a dark colored egg with no shell and within was a well-baked egg. How she secured it is sufficient to cook the egg in her nest, is a mystery. Mrs. Hammer took it to a feed store in West Monroe and there it was examined but no one could solve the mystery. Must be some new style laying in egg-dom.

Out at 2424 DeSard street, a market yesterday was displaying a shark that was caught in a net by fishermen plying their trade in a bayou south of New Orleans.

It was an ugly looking creature with a huge mouth and long lines of sharp teeth. It measured 38 inches and on the scales weighed 12 pounds.

It attracted considerable attention for many hereabouts have probably never seen a real shark. Could wreak no damage to humans.

3,148 Entries Fail To Crack Puzzle Jackpot; $50 At Stake Next Week

By Bonanza Bill

An avalanche of 3,148 entries in The Morning World crossword puzzle contest this week failed to tip the $25 jackpot with the correct solution, so the prize for the second one in the series has been boosted to $50.

The puzzle this week proved a real stickler. One of the most prevalent pitfalls seemed to be number 18 across. Almost everyone used the word "chess" when it should have been "chefs."

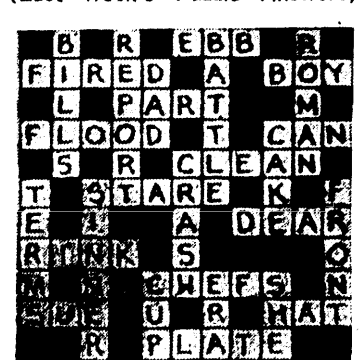

The judges ruled that chefs make life most enjoyable for some people, whereas the people who play chess only make life more enjoyable for themselves. Tricky, isn't it?

Don't let the first setback discourage you, try your luck again for the bigger jackpot. Study the answer to the first puzzle which is shown on this page, and plot out your next plan of attack.

Remember, however, that entries should not be included in envelopes, but the puzzles should be glued to postcards and mailed in. This rule was relaxed for the first puzzle, and all entries—on postcards and in envelopes—were carefully judged. But judges caution that entries in envelopes will not be considered next time.

Puzzle number two will be printed Monday and Tuesday in the World.

Here is a list of explanations of the most difficult clues for the first puzzle which thwarted everyone this week:

Clues across:
6. Certainly true if he is FIRED unjustly. However unjust a FINE may seem, if it has been imposed in a court of law one must assume that justice has been done.

8. If musical, a BOY could certainly be a source of pleasure. We can have a music BOX, but cannot say that a BOX is musical.

9. Part is preferred. A PACT is an AGREEMENT that is, it does not become a PACT until any alterations have BEEN made. It is only in a PROPOSED PACT that "last minute alterations" may be demanded. No such objection applies to PART.

10. FLOOD is a good answer as it stands. To be BLOOD the clue would have to be qualified. For example, BLOOD would have to be HUMAN BLOOD. For all the clue says, it may be just a little BLOOD on a piece of meat.

11. CAN is best. Surely ANY person might think twice before deciding to throw an old CAP away. Only a thrifty person would be likely to hesitate before throwing an old CAN away. You wouldn't "throw" a CAR, CAB or CAT away.

16. DEAR is a perfect answer which EMBRACES NEAR where this means intimate or familiar. NEAR, however, COULD mean "not far away," and there is no reason why you should think a lot of THESE people.

17. RINK is preferred. It is particularly the NOVICE who is apt to fall on a RINK. In the RING, a boxer may take an early count whether he is a novice OR NOT. Also, in the RING some attempt is generally made to match boxers or wrestlers and a novice would presumably be boxing another novice.

18. CHEFS is more direct, because they perform a positive action in making life more enjoyable for those for whom they cook. CHESS is abstract and passive. It is PEOPLE who make life better for themselves by PLAYING CHESS.

21. SUE is better. SEE is a little weak because there is no indication of how long ago the person slandered you. You may have practically forgotten about it. When you SUE such a person the offense is fresh in your mind and the very fact that you are SUING indicates that you are taking a serious view of the matter.
23. PLATE is best. The clue is an understatement for PLANE, which calls for a GREAT DEAL rather than "a certain amount" of technical knowledge. The development of a photographic PLATE is a straightforward operation that nevertheless calls for a certain amount of knowledge. PLATE is not favored.

Clues down:
1. BILLS is preferred. Bad writing could only lead to mistakes in the interpretation of a WILL, since the testator must know what he means, regardless of the quality of his writing. Even if somebody else draws it up, it is not a valid WILL until the person has read and signed it - which he will not do if there are any mistakes. BILLS, which may be typed from handwriting, is quite apt.

2. REPORT fits the clue better. The decision to DEPORT somebody CAN ONLY be taken by a responsible AUTHORITY. This would surely be MORE than ONE person, and anyway the "should" in the clue ought to be "must". "SHOULD" rest with a responsible person" matches better with REPORT.

4. BATTLE is more apt. It is not a ship, but a MODEL ship, that you see in a BOTTLE; and why a seafaring man especially, when this novelty is equally well-known to landmen? There must be many an old sailor who has experience of a naval BATTLE, and this word is preferable.

11. A CASE undoubtedly is better if light. CASE is vague, but there must be various kinds of CASES in which heaviness is no disadvantage. A show CASE in a store or museum, for instance.
13. Medical students certainly get to know a lot of peculiar TERMS - that is TERMS peculiar to the medical profession, that would seem strange to the layman or raw student. GERMS is not a natural answer here. What on earth is a "peculiar" GERM? Are not all GERMS peculiar in a way? And does a student really "get to know" them? Get to know their names and effects, perhaps.

14. Since "poor SINNER" is a conventional phrase SINNER fits nicely and justifies the inclusion of the word "poor". There is little point in specifying a poor SINGER, because the desire to improve is not confined to those who are poor in either sense of the word. Every sincere SINGER tries to improve his singing.

15. Front is more apt. FROST can mean hardship for ANYBODY not properly equipped for it. It is soldiers who are at the FRONT and FRONT has a specific application to soldiers.

matter to be settled.
"We sincerely believe that no wage offer is fair which excludes any part of the working force," he said, "and the present offer, from the company excludes about 5,000 people."

Southern Bell said several days ago it had offered wage increases totaling six million dollars a year on the condition the union accept a no-strike clause.

Other issues remaining in dispute, the union spokesman said, are job and town reclassification, (reducing of geographic differentials in pay), hospitalization, pensions, shortening of tours of duty for women working at night, equalization of either hours or pay for a large group of clerical workers and the contracting of out of work and craft work performed by supervisors and others.

Weekly minimum pay of telephone operators ranges from $57 in cities the size of Atlanta to $43.50 in smaller cities and towns. The maximum for plant workers is $91.50.

his case is heard, possibly a reference to Shivers and Shepperd.

"When insinuations and vague references to individuals are made, I hope you will also call upon the person making such insinuations to explain them and give full details in connection with them," Shivers said.

Earlier, in the House, Rep. D. B. Hardeman of Denison called for an inquiry into what he termed "the most disgraceful government scandal since reconstruction days." His bill proposed an appropriation of $500,000 for the state auditor to make an investigation spanning the 15 years Giles headed the State Land Office.

Giles was land commissioner from Jan. 1, 1939 to Jan. 1, 1955 when he unexpectedly resigned the elective post the day he was to have been sworn in for his ninth term.

Market Inquiry

Huge Sears Fund Halts Buying Of Common Stock

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP) — Gen. Robert E. Wood, who manages the big profit-sharing pension fund of Sears, Roebuck & Co. said today "I don't want to risk my employees' money" in the stock market at its present level.

Wood told the Senate Banking Committee the fund now has 90 million dollars in cash but its directors are "at wit's end" wondering where to invest it.

Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) asked Wood why, if he doesn't think the stock market is too high, he didn't invest the money in stocks.

"I'm uncertain," Wood replied. The ruddy, white-haired Wood, fingering an unlighted cigarette as he testified, insisted, however, that he didn't know whether the market is too high.

He also replied "I don't know" when Fulbright asked whether there is too much speculative activity in the market.

Wood, who was chairman of the board of Sears for years, is now retired from that post but is still a director and chairman of the pension fund.

Another witness, Benjamin Graham, New York financier-professor, said he considers the stock market "to be on the high side and getting into a dangerous situation." He said he was inclined to favor "a fairly rapid advance" toward putting margin requirements at 100 per cent to halt credit purchases of stocks.

Graham is chairman of the Graham-Newman Corp., an investment company. He is also a part-time teacher—"evaluation of common stocks"—at Columbia University.

He and Wood testified as the Banking Committee resumed its study of the 18-month rise in stock prices.

Unlike previous witnesses asked the same question by Fulbright, Graham replied "Yes, sir" when asked whether the committee's hearings had anything to do with recent fluctuations in stock prices.

Fulbright said he doesn't see any reason why the study "should necessarily put the market down."

The stock market, Graham said, is in a "rather sensitive" condition, subject to being influenced by any number of factors, including the hearings.

"If this study puts the market down, then the market was due to go down and should go down," Graham commented.

Fulbright said he received 15 or 20 telegrams after the sharp break in the market earlier this week bitterly complaining that the inquiry was "rocking the boat."

Graham, in reply to a question by Fulbright, said General Motors Corp. "probably" could cut prices of its cars enough to put its competitors out of business and still make a reasonable profit.

The same question had been put to some previous witnesses, but Graham was the first to express an opinion.

Fulbright several times has commented on General Motors' profit of $9 a share last year and wondered what would happen to its competitors if the No. 1 auto maker cut its prices and its profits.

Trial Of Libel Charges Against Newspaper Opens

SAN DIEGO, Tex., March 11 (AP)—A $50,000 libel suit filed by political boss George B. Parr against Diego Heras, a former Benavides school official, and Santos de la Paz, Corpus Christi newspaper publisher, opened in county court Friday.

Heras, former official of the Benavides independent school district board of trustees, repeatedly invoked the fifth amendment and refused to answer questions put to him by Parr's attorney, Everett Looney of Austin.

Parr was not in the courtroom of County Judge Dan Tobin Jr., and only a few spectators were present. One of them was state Sen. William Shireman of Corpus Christi.

Parr's suit alleges that de la Paz libeled him in his weekly newspaper, La Verdad, in the Feb. 3, 1954 issue. The newspaper is published in Corpus Christi.

Parr alleges that de la Paz printed a statement by Heras in which Heras declared he had unlawfully converted public funds of the Benavides school district at Parr's request, and delivered such funds to Parr.

The political boss claims the statement was "a defamation in printing tending to injure the reputation" of Parr and "to expose him to public hatred, contempt, ridicule and financial injury and to impeach his honesty, integrity and reputation."

Attorney General John Ben Sheppard granted Heras immunity from prosecution on Feb. 10, 1954 in matters involving mishandling of state funds in exchange for Heras' testimony about irregularities in the Benavides school district.

API Production Division Names New Chairman

NEW ORLEANS, March 11 (AP)—The southwest district of the American Petroleum Institute's production division today elected T. J. Fuson of the Humble Oil and Refining Co., Houston, Tex., chairman.

The association also elected 12 vice chairman of sub districts and two co-secretary treasurers at the closing session of the three-day conference.

Ira H. Cram, senior vice president of the Continental Oil Company, told the more than 1,500 oil men that investors have gotten back less than one-fifth of the $50 million dollars they spent on offshore oil lands in the last 10 years.

Cram said financial returns after exploration, drilling and development have totalled 110 million dollars.

But the oil industry is prepared to spend more money, Cram said, if economic and government conditions are favorable.

Cram said oil companies have done well on offshore wells. He said more than half of the 64 offshore prospects have turned out to be oil or gas discoveries.

He said the high drilling and production costs probably will be reduced in time.

Oil Allowable Hearing Slated In New Orleans

BATON ROUGE, March 11 (AP)—The Department of Conservation today set a public hearing April 14 in New Orleans prior to fixing the Louisiana daily oil production allowable for May.

The allowable hearing will be followed by individual hearings on proposed operations in Church Point, Laurel Ridge and North Cankton fields.

GETS THE NEEDLE

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—The dentist had just plunged a novacaine needle into truck driver Frank Camuso's jaw when a friend rushed in shouting that his truck was zigzagging down a hill. With the needle still in his jaw, Camuso ran out to find the truck overturned at the bottom of a hill. The brake had slipped. The dentist later extracted both the needle and a tooth.

SCHOOL PLANS TV

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—The new two million dollar high school is going to have television in every classroom. School directors have approved a $16,783 contract for a TV pipeline system they believe will be the first of its kind in the nation. It will be installed with the school's intercommunication and sound speaker system. Eldon Boyd, principal, estimates that total cost of the TV system, including sets for classrooms and a camera for use in photographing closed-circuit events, will be about $32,000.

Of Machines And Human Workers

R. H. Sullivan, vice-president of Ford Motor Company, told a New Orleans audience that automatic machines will not take jobs away from American workers. Evidently, he felt that the workers needed reassurance, or he would not have said this. Certain jobs, particularly in the field of heavy labor, have been taken over by industrial robots, and certain calculations by mechanical brains; so that the brain and the brains of industry today really do depend upon the robots, within a certain range of values, so far rather small, but increasing.

The industrial revolution dawned a little more than 200 years ago, and one of its first pioneers was a Polish inventor in Danzig who rigged up a machine that could weave several webs at a time, without human aid. The authorities took him out and drowned him, to prevent "injury" to the poor hand-loomers, and suppressed his invention. In 1785, Dr. Edmund Cartwright in England patented a power loom, and in the following year produced another which has served as a model for later inventions; and the mechanical age had arrived in full brightness.

From looms to sheep-shearing equipment, and in every field of activity as the mechanical age cut its eye teeth, displaced labor sought to block the introduction of machines; and there were riots, and crises in government, and restrictive laws by the hundreds; but these were unavailing for the simple reason that man had enlisted physical and chemical and mechanical power as a servant; and was marching forward under new banners, giving him constantly greater control over his physical environment.

This remarkable trend has never been reversed, but on the contrary it has been accentuated—stepped up in tempo, down to today.

As the results were evaluated, scholars and historians, and labor itself, observed that the machines created new jobs faster than they blotted out old ones; and a curious dualism or polarity became apparent. On the one hand were the workers displaced by the machines, many of them great hand craftsmen, their occupations gone, their very livelihoods jeopardized; on the other, an almost insatiable new demand for workers to tend the contrivances of the industrial revolution—to make, and service and control the whirling gears and toothed wheels of a mechanical age.

Some of the results have shown themselves in shorter working hours for labor, higher pay, longer vacations, many other benefits. The rule, established early in the industrial revolution, still applies; that machines create more new jobs than they displace.

There is nothing in modern statistics to show any deviation from this rule. Mr. Sullivan, in his address, merely restated an established truth, and offered a reassurance of its validity.

A Servant That Can Rebel

Natural gas is one of the great servants of mankind; and in the United States we take it for granted, almost as we do the air we breathe and the sunlight that falls around us.

But any combustible gas, whether supplied by nature or man-made from nature's ingredients, is potentially dangerous to life and property if ordinary precautions of safety are ignored. The same is true of another great servant, electricity; and, in fact, of many instrumentalities and devices contributing to modern civilization.

Perhaps the greatest single danger from natural gas, or its man-made equivalent, is its hunger for oxygen; and the foolish tendency of many persons to sleep with an unventilated gas fire burning, in a tightly closed room.

Many tragedies result annually from this ill-advised practice.

There are simple rules that, if observed, would eliminate nearly all these tragedies; and the people should be more fully educated and informed as to their application.

Various forms of gas poisoning seem to have something in common—they leave the victim, for a time, with ability to think and very little ability to move even a few feet, to break a window pane, or open a door.

There is the instance of a 12-year-old boy in Leeds, England, who woke up in a gas-filled bedroom to find his parents dead. As reported in a press association story, he had strength enough to scrawl a "will"; and the boy, Michael Grant, wanted his own personal belongings to go to a young friend. He wrote: "I know I am going to sleep for the last time, so leave my train set and building toys to Roger Simpson."

Short End Of The Stick

The extent to which canned hams and other pork products from European countries, including Communist Poland, are entering the American market will come as a surprise to most of us. Last year an increase of 28 per cent was registered over 1953, for a record total of 99,163,000 pounds. Of this, Communist Poland accounted for almost 20,000,000 pounds. Germany, Denmark and Holland were other heavy shippers.

Without going into a discussion of foreign trade theory, it is evident that in this case the United States is getting the short end of the stick. Communist Poland, for example, is not a market for American pork, or for lard, hides, tallow, etc. And the dollars Poland thus obtains may even be used for the purchase, in dollar-hungry third countries, of strategic materials which are not permitted to be exported from the United States to the Communist nations.

Even in countries which do buy some meats and allied products from us, the trade is severely restricted in many ways: by licensing and quota systems, exchange controls, prohibitively high duties, and so on.

The moral is plain. These heavy imports should persuade foreign countries that reciprocally fair treatment should be given to American products we want to export to them. We should have the same freedom of entry in foreign markets as foreign producers have in ours. Foreign trade, to be sound and equitable, must be a one-way street.

George Sokolsky

THESE DAYS

Billy Graham

The fact is astounding that Billy Graham, the evangelist, could fill Madison Square Garden in New York with an estimated 5,000 standing on the street, on a cold, wintry day, listening to a loud speaker. Although about 25,000 people is not an enormous number in ratio to the total population of New York, it is larger than a prizefight, a basketball game or a political speech drags in this city.

The question must then arise: Why is Billy Graham so popular? The answer is quite simple: He talks religion. Too many clergymen, in their sermons these days, do not talk religion. They talk about everything else. They review Broadway plays; they are amateur psychiatrists; they go in for social action; they turn the pulpit into a political forum. But they do not talk of man's relations to God and of the evil of sin and of the consequences of intransigence of the moral law.

And except for the very few who possess extraordinary histrionic and forensic talents and the other few who do, exceptionally, devote themselves to the task of being God's messengers, their sermons become tiresome and are often trite, and the congregations find more amusing or give themselves a few hours to "Do It Yourself" occupations at home.

That is why Billy Graham draws such crowds. The man is not a great preacher, in the style, let us say, of Henry Ward Beecher, but he reaches the conscience of an era that seeks God all over again.

The clergy of all denominations might learn something from the phenomenon of Billy Graham. Just as they might have learned something from Bishop Fulton Sheen or Norman Vincent Peale. I have heard that one of the clergymen who are humiliated by the center of the universe, Man is everything. They avoid mention of God, but they capitalize science. That, of course, is their privilege, but what are they doing in churches and synagogues? (Copyright, 1955, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

I once had quite a quarrel with a Protestant clergyman over Norman Vincent Peale. This clergyman arbitrarily insisted that Peale was not a Christian because he did not preach his particular brand. The clergyman, incidentally, preferred communism to Catholicism, at though he abhorred both. So I made the point that Peale—this was before his astounding success as an author and on radio and television—could fill his church with people who would not go elsewhere. In our disturbed period, men and women turn to God for peace and comfort. They want to hear God's word. Call it escapism, if you please, but they are not escaping to voluptuousness and drunkenness. They are escaping from the unreality of fear of the atom to the reality, for them, of the life eternal. It is a wholesome response to the challenge of the confusions of our times. For many, who have been lost in the maze of argumentation and confusion, it opens a door to a new and rich experience.

The churches of God are not public forums nor are they substitute pews for the couch of the psychoanalyst. The clergy are not important as editorial writers who read complex studies on social problems. There are others to perform such wonders. The following paragraph was issued by an important religious denomination:

"... There is growing up over against communism a fanatical negativism. Totally devoid of a constructive program of action, this negativism is in danger of leading the American mind into a spiritual vacuum. Our national house, cleansed of one demon, would invite by its very emptiness, the entrance of seven others. In the case of a national crisis this emptiness could, in the high sounding name of security, be occupied with ease by a fascist tyranny."

What is the constructive program? I do not see it in the document. I do not see a statement of fundamental Christian doctrine such as Billy Graham preaches and such as his immense following craves. The clergy who fail to recognize that their function is a particular one, fail to meet the issue of our times which is how to bring God back into the home, back into the school and the workshop, back into the church.

I have come across clergymen who are humanists. Man is the center of the universe. Man is everything. They avoid mention of God, but they capitalize science. That, of course, is their privilege, but what are they doing in churches and synagogues? (Copyright, 1955, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Congressional Quarterly

Survey Shows Growth Of Two-Party States

WASHINGTON — The one-party state—long the anomaly of a two-party nation—is well on its way to extinction.

In progress for some time, the change gained further momentum in the 1954 election, according to an analysis by Congressional Quarterly. Up to now, scores of local parties, but in many cases reflected trends well established in earlier elections.

In Oregon, for example, Richard L. Neuberger became the state's first Democratic Senator in 40 years, while Mrs. Edith Green, who was elected Representative from the Third District by 9,600 votes, became the first Democratic House member in a decade. But the Democratic share of the vote in this Republican stronghold has been increasing in House races in the past five elections, particularly in the Second and Third Districts.

Democrats are also making inroads in normally Republican northern New England and in the Midwest. In Michigan, for example, the traditional GOP preserve, for their part, Republicans are making significant gains in the Democratic South. The result is close contests in areas once regarded as safely one-party.

Maine upset tradition by electing a Democratic governor, Edmund Muskie, by a margin of 22,400 votes. Maine's three House seats remained in GOP hands, but in the past five elections the Democratic share of the vote has increased almost 15 per cent in each of the three Districts. Rep. Robert Hale won re-election in the First District by only 3,800 votes. Both the First and Second Districts are now classified as marginal.

In neighboring New Hampshire, Republican Chester E. Morrow, a six-term member of the First District, won re-election by only 400 votes. Next door in Vermont, long-time GOP stronghold, Republicans were pressed hard for the second time in two years to keep a Democrat out of the governorship.

Democrats also made substantial gains at GOP expense in the Republican heartland—the Midwest. The GOP's share of the 1954 vote in House contests was less than its share in 1952 and 1950 in the following states: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin. It was also down in Missouri, which has a Democratic background.

The Democrats' share of Michigan's vote, for example, has increased in almost all of the state's 18 Congressional districts over the past 10 years. In 1954, Democrats unseated GOP incumbents in two of these districts, and elected Sen. Patrick McNamara by a 39,000-vote margin.

A similar trend shows itself in Minnesota and Wisconsin. In 1954, Democrats retired GOP incumbents Harold C. Hagen in Minnesota's Ninth District and Charles J. Kersten in Wisconsin's Fifth. In addition, Democrat Orville Freeman ousted Minnesota's Republican Governor by 68,000 votes. In Wisconsin, GOP Governor Walter J. Kohler, who won re-election in 1952 with 62.6 per cent of the vote, was re-elected, but only by 51.5 per cent of the vote.

Republican gains in the Democratic South have not been so extensive. Handicapped by a lack of "grass roots" machinery, the GOP has concentrated on selected House races and has made real progress in Virginia, Florida, North Carolina and Texas. Virginia in particular is moving rapidly toward two-party status.

In 1952, President Eisenhower carried eight of Virginia's 10 districts. Four of them by more than 60 per cent of the vote—and swept three GOP Congressmen into office, the first GOP newcomers to be elected since 1928. One of them, William C. Wampler (Ninth), lost his seat to a Democrat in 1954 by 1,000 votes, but Richard H. Poff (Sixth) and Noel T. Brodyhill (Tenth) won re-election by higher percentages, despite the GOP's national trend downward.

Poff increased his margin from 51.2 to 62.3 per cent, on about the same edge that President Eisenhower won in the Sixth in 1952. Moreover, the GOP share of the Virginia vote in House contests jumped from 21.6 per cent in 1950 to 10 per cent in 1954, and Republicans made a strong showing in the 1953 gubernatorial contest.

The Pay Raise

The $7,500 pay raise which members of Congress finally voted themselves, after shying at the same proposal in several previous sessions, produced a flurry of buying in the better Washington stores, as a majority of members' wives celebrated with a new hat, or a new gown.

Some senators and representatives decided the time had finally come to buy their own white tie and tails outfits. That was a blow to the dress suit rental shops of which a flock have sprung up here in recent years. But that spirit did not move Rep. Usher Burdick (Rep. N. D.), the most rural member of Congress, who voted against the pay raise and declined an invitation to a White House reception because he did not have the regalia.

"You can imagine what I would look like in one of those get-ups," he quipped. "It would be like fitting a trotting harness on a draft horse."

Rep. Frank S. Thompson (Dem., N. J.) who writes a chatty letter to his constituents, told them that he rented a dress suit for the reception and furthermore that his wife Eve "went out to buy long white gloves, which she must have."

Friendly Russian Gesture—Speculation that Marshal G. K. Zhukov, Soviet minister of war might visit Washington and his friend, President Eisenhower recalls a story of the latter's visit as Supreme Allied Commander to Moscow, with his staff, in 1945 to pay his respects to Premier Stalin and other officials of the Soviet government. The Moscow flight, as the plane was routed, required eight hours of flying time, and tired the passengers.

As they approached Moscow, another officer whispered to Major General Thomas Jefferson Davis, Eisenhower's adjutant to remind him that a generous shot of vodka would have a reviving effect at the end of the journey.

"So when we reached the mansion which was headquarters during our visit, a cute little Russian girl approached us with a tray of drinks," General Davis related. "But it wasn't vodka. The girl's eyes sparkled as she said, 'Where's your Amerikanski!'"

Just then we saw the battle from which it had been poured sitting in the corner. It was one of the very cheapest grades of whisky on the wartime market, which the U. S. army up to then had shunned. "However, the intended gesture of good will could not be ignored so we each downed a full tumbler as Russian custom demands. Until that moment, I had never realized just how bad an alcoholic beverage can taste."

No Interest on Holmes — The only official of the U. S. government who thought enough of his country to leave his estate to it has been ignored in turn by the government, it came out the other day. The late Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States Supreme Court left $263,288 to the United States at his death in 1935, without strings, as a token of gratitude and appreciation for the government under which it had been his privilege to live.

The bequest included his old home in 1 Street here and a portfolio of investments. After some talk about using the house as a museum all of his belongings were sold under the will and the cash deposited in a bank. Recently Rep. Clarence Cannon (Dem., Mo.) revealed that the money was still there and since it had been willed to the government, had drawn no interest.

The $263,288 would have accumulated at least $150,000 in interest to make him do in greater degree what he feels he cannot do, is about the most unwise move that can be made.

Success builds personal pride and power. Failure lowers both. Take away the one thing that gives a child a feeling of power and force him to concentrate on work that he cannot do and dislikes and he becomes depressed and loses any potential of success in both fields.

If you, a mature person, excel in music but consistently fail in mathematics how would you feel if someone in authority over you forced you to give up the music and give all your time to the mathematics? That is the way the failing child feels when that sort of thing happens to him.

To overcome failure, courage and faith are required. Build the child's confidence in himself by letting him succeed. Start where he is and work from there. Accent every effort with praise and don't expect too much. Growth in a field that presents great difficulty to the learner is of necessity slow.

Make the coaching lessons short, no more than fifteen minutes. Make one point, just one, at a time. As the child's confidence expands he will be able to do more. Give him plenty of time. Success has a way of compounding itself once it has been fanned into life.

But don't punish a failing child by taking from him the one thing he succeeds in doing. Let the small boy keep his dog and the older one his place on the team. Let the girl go on with her ballet dancing and help all the failing ones as they can take help, slowly—and patiently. Remember that the one thing they love is the life—saver to which they are clinging.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Terry's case shows that each of us is really a set of twins. But one of our twin selves is a lazy, lying, cowardly ne'er-do-well. The other is a nobleman. So help that nobleman win so often that it then becomes a habit to pick the right course of action without debating with your onerous twin.

Case N-372: Terry M., aged 16, is a high schooler.

self," he began, "for I am a coward at heart."

"I usually know what is right but I often do the wrong thing because the other kids suggest it."

"And I even try to cheat myself, for I know it is for my own best interests to brush my teeth, but I often have to argue myself into doing it."

"Actually, it doesn't take me 2 minutes to brush my teeth, but I am often so tired, I try to sneak out of doing it."

"My mother used to prod me but now that I am about grown, she pays no attention, so I must prod myself. And I still try to play hooky with myself. Isn't that odd?"

We Trick Ourselves

No, that isn't a bit odd, for all of us human beings are like St. Paul, who said two personalities were always at war inside him.

One was the lazy animal personality which would try to trick or deceive the noble or spiritual personality.

I've seen dieters among business executives who would eat sparingly at the table; then sneak some extra tidbits when they were away from the watchful eyes of their wife and children. They were hurting themselves.

Part of the task of being true adults consists of gaining control over that lazy, sneaky personality which suggests we put off work till tomorrow.

And when it comes to facing serious crises, we are all like Peter and Jonah. For Peter lied three times in one night, saying he never even knew Jesus. But he repented later and acknowledged his cowardice.

Jonah tried to play hooky from his duty of warning Nineveh, so he fled by ship. But he finally confessed and was thrown overboard, where the great fish swallowed him.

Jesus Was Human

Jesus, too, felt this same human tendency to avoid things which are painful, so he prayed in Gethsemane and wrestled with his destiny till almost morning.

He asked God if somehow he couldn't avoid going to the Cross, but this was his human side warring with his noble or spiritual personality. For he ended his long prayer with these words:

"Not my will but thine be done."

You teen-agers must not grow overly discouraged, therefore, when you feel the urge to duck out and avoid or evade your duty.

But it is dangerous to start fleeing from fears, for you then become their slave and they figuratively will blackmail you the rest of your life.

Call Their Bluff

Instead, call the bluff of those fears. Face them resolutely, even if you feel as if you'll die. For you will not die.

So accept the job of singing a solo at church or of teaching a Sunday school class, or of leading the Youth Meeting. Though your knees knock together like castanets, tell them you are still their master!

Argue with yourself, too, as when you try to slip out of brushing your teeth. Tell yourself to "Act your age!"

All your life you will need to prod your better self into doing what you know is right, for your lazy self will try to persuade you otherwise.

But ultimately you will win control so you will not even debate any longer.

If it's right, then I'm going to do it!" will become an axiom of your behavior thereafter and you will become a true adult nobleman like Jesus, as he arose from his knees at Gethsemane.

16 Indicted By Grand Jury For Intermarriages

NEW ORLEANS, March 11 (AP)—The St. Bernard Parish grand jury charged eight couples with violating the state's criminal law which forbids intermarriage between whites and Negroes.

Two Negro women, six white women, two white men and six Negro men were involved.

Louisiana's criminal law provides penalties up to five years for conviction on a charge of miscegenation, marriage between races. The state's civil code makes such marriages null and void.

The jury last night also indicted a man for false swearing in connection with his marriage to a 13-year-old girl. The charge said Robert Schaefer, 21, New Orleans, swore his intended wife was over 16.

Marriages are forbidden in Louisiana for males under 18 and females under 16, first assistant district attorney Rudolph McBride said. But, McBride said, marriages of persons under age are valid if they conform to other provisions of the code.

McBride said the intermarriage cases were the first he could recall in recent years.

He said they attracted attention when the board of health found discrepancies in the applications for marriage licenses.

The men and women were charged with miscegenation. The men also were charged with false swearing in connection with the marriage license applications.

The indictments charge the two white men swore their wives were white when they were Negro.

Senate Expected To Vote On Tax Cut During Week

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Senators fighting for and against a new income tax cut agreed today to limit their debate and vote on the issue next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The war of words in the Senate will continue unabated, until the opening of Tuesday's session.

At that time, under a debate limitation negotiated by Majority Leader Johnson of Texas, four hours will be allotted to a discussion of a "compromise" tax plan being pushed by the Democratic leadership.

This calls for a $20 income tax reduction for millions of Americans next year plus $10 reductions for each dependent except spouses. The legislation is so drawn, however that it would apply mainly to families earning under $5,000 a year.

There will be a two-hour limitation on any amendment, with an equal amount of time given to the discussion before a final decision.

Johnson said the Senate would stay in session as late as necessary Monday to give members an unlimited amount of time to speak their minds.

The House has approved a $20 cut for every taxpayer and dependent next year, coupling it with legislation to extend for one year certain corporate income tax and excise rates scheduled to drop April 1.

President Eisenhower wants the rate extension, but is strongly opposed to any income tax cuts at this time.

The Democratic compromise plan was drafted after strenuous objections were voiced to any reduction in revenue. In addition to reducing the income tax cut, it provides for a longer extension of the corporate and excise tax rates.

Discoverer Of

his discovery in 1928 as "pure luck."

He had been experimenting with an antiseptic substance from human tears and saliva which he called "lysozyme." One day a spore, presumably blown through the open window of his old-fashioned laboratory, showed up on a culture plate he was studying.

Through a microscope, he noticed that a blue mold appeared to be killing bacteria on the plate. Further tests showed that the mold-growing liquid, even when diluted 800 times, cleared away bacteria. He also found it did not damage blood corpuscles.

Sir Alexander identified the mold from its brush-like appearance as belonging to the penicillium family of fungi. He named it penicillin and recorded his discovery in an official report in 1929.

Ten years passed before a pair of Oxford University researchers, Sir Howard Florey and Dr. Ernst Boris Chain, produced penicillin in the crystalline form which has made it one of the most potent drugs ever produced. It was perfected in time to save thousands of soldiers' lives from infection during World War II.

War-time mass production made it possible to release the germ-killing marvel to civilians in 1945. It proved effective in combating cocci which caused blood poisoning and many other infections, including "strep" throat and infections following childbirth.

Russia's claim to have invented penicillin didn't cause much worry to Sir Alexander. Told recently that the Soviets were claiming it, Fleming replied:

"Oh, are they? Well, perhaps they might be right. I didn't discover it any more than it discovered me."

Red Cross Drive Is Endorsed By Top Organizations

Several major civic clubs, brotherhoods, and federations of the Twin Cities have cooperatively endorsed the 1955 Red Cross Campaign according to the chairman, Louie E. Gruber.

Gruber stated yesterday that about 18 organizations were on the list to support the drive.

With this as a beginning, Gruber stated that continued efforts would be made to get a larger membership in the group and to push forward toward the Ouachita Parish quota of $41,500.

It was pointed out by Gruber that the Red Cross is a service organization and not one of the old-fashioned fallacies of being a relief agency.

When a person becomes a part of the membership of the Red Cross, he helps to repair damage in the wake of disasters, helps to rebuild houses and furnish homes and even to restore livelihoods.

Dead Chef's Wife Located In Ark.

The Ouachita Parish Sheriff's department said yesterday that one relative of George Bittner, 56, who was found dead in a local hospital Wednesday afternoon, had been located.

His wife, Mrs. Alma Bittner, was contacted in Hot Springs, Ark., Thursday and informed of her husband's death.

Mrs. Bittner who arrived here Friday had the body shipped by rail to Hot Springs. It had been lying in state at Hall Funeral Home.

Trouble May Develop If Chiang Takes Finn Ship

TAIPEI, FORMOSA, Saturday, March 12 (AP)—If both sides mean what they say, there may be trouble if and when the Finnish tanker Aruba tries to reach a Red China port with 13,000 tons of jet fuel—enough to send out Russian-built MIGs on 5,200 missions.

It was quite evident on Formosa that Chiang Kai-shek's warships and planes intend to intercept the Aruba once she comes within range.

On March 9, Peiping radio broadcast a Red China warning that any interference with the tanker on the high seas "is not to be tolerated."

The feeling was apparent on this Nationalist stronghold that a move to intercept the tanker would, at the very minimum, have the sympathetic understanding of the United States which is formally committed by treaty to the defense of Formosa.

On March 4, when the Aruba was reported in the Suez Canal area, a U.S. State Department press officer in Washington said the tanker's voyage "cannot fail to evoke the disapproval of the free world."

The Finnish Embassy in Washington said at that time the tanker was a privately owned ship which had been chartered "to a foreign country" and the Finnish government was without legal authority to prevent the trip.

The Red broadcast March 9 said all such Nationalist seizures in the protection of the United States and that country "will have to bear the full responsibility for such piracy" should the Aruba be intercepted.

(The State Department declined comment in Washington Friday on the report of Nationalist plans to intercept the Tanker.)

Auto Workers Contract With Ford Ends June 1

DETROIT, March 11—UP—The CIO United Auto Workers filed formal notice Friday it would cancel its present five-year contract with Ford Motor Company when it expires June 1.

Ken Bannan, director of the Ford national department of the UAW, filed the notice to clear the way for the union to strike at expiration of the current contract if it wishes. The notice is required under the Taft-Hartley law.

The action of the union is giving the first contract termination notice to Ford, even though the General Motors contract ran out three days earlier on May 29, caused some speculation that the union might have picked one Ford as its No. 1 target in seeking the guaranteed annual wage this spring.

But a spokesman for the union said there was "no significance." He said different working in the present Ford and GM contracts permitted an earlier cancellation notice to be filed with Ford. He said the General Motors contract is more specific when such notice can be filed and permitting cancellation notice until late this month.

In filing the cancellation notice, the union brought its demand for a guaranteed annual wage and the strike threat before the labor relations board officially for the first time.

'Unfair Sales' Act Introduced In Texas

AUSTIN, March 11—UP—An "unfair sales" act barring retailers and wholesalers from selling merchandise at less than cost has been introduced by Rep. James E. Cox of Monroe.

The bill provides for fines up to $500 for merchandisers engaging in "unfair competition."

Such competition would include selling at less than cost with the intent of inducing purchase of other merchandise, unfairly diverting trade from a competitor, otherwise injuring a competitor, impairing and preventing fair competition, or impairing public welfare.

Advertising, offering to sell or selling under such conditions would constitute "unfair competition" when the result is to tend to deceive any purchaser or prospective purchaser, or to substantially less than cost, or to unreasonably restrain trade.

Major Changes In Demo Economic Report, Critical Of Ike, Forced By GOP

WASHINGTON, March 11—Republicans forced major changes today in a democratic-sponsored report sharply criticizing President Eisenhower's economic policies. The original report asserted the nation is "not out of the woods" of recession.

As the climax of a week of behind-the-scenes battling, a majority of the Senate-House Economic Committee agreed on a toned-down report eliminating most criticisms of the President, as well as some pessimistic forecasts.

Mindful of Eisenhower's 1954 attacks on what he called "prophecies of gloom and doom" among the Democrats, committee Republicans planned to submit as a supplement their own more optimistic views on the economic outlook. Democrats indicated they would incorporate another separate statement of criticisms of Eisenhower policies deleted from the bipartisan report.

These latter included the assertion, in a draft prepared by Chairman Douglas (D-Ill.), that "there has been improvement" (in the economy) but we are not out of the woods. This version added that Eisenhower's economic report to Congress "did not make this clear."

The two-party report, to be made public officially this weekend, still asserts what has become something of a Democratic theme—that there was an "economic recession" last year and "it is not enough just to maintain present levels of employment and production."

Sizing up the economy the majority report says, among other things:

1. "Every possible economic support" should be given military and technological developments.

2. "The economy has been improving since late 1954. Employment and production have advanced about one-half the ground lost and unemployment has receded about one-third. There is, however, unevenness in this advance."

3. "The elements of uncertainty in the economic outlook and the size of adjustments which must be made . . . dictate the wisdom of seeking the strengthening of our basic economic programs."

4. "The majority support further adjustment in the tax structure at this time which, without sacrificing revenue, will increase consumer purchasing power. The minority . . . feel it is premature to make adjustments now."

5. "We support the President's recommendation for an increase in the federal debt limit."

6. "The committee recognizes . . . unfavorable trends in farm income which offer a serious threat to the economy as a whole. We are doubtful, however, whether any program which seeks to bring about a balance by a policy of contraction of acreage can, in the long run, be successful. Our greatest hope for solution lies rather in expanding consumption at home and abroad."

7. "We are for increasing public works—federal, state and local—to meet the needs of a growing population, expanding economy and national security. . . . Financing should be direct from the treasury, rather than from indirect authorities which circumvent the public debt limit or are nurtured by special earmarked revenues."

8. "It is imperative that an office of coordinator of public works planning . . . be put in operation as soon as possible."

9. "We believe that action is required now" to aid distressed industries and regions "and that much can be done through public works."

Grand Champion Baby Beef Sells For $2,412 Total

BATON ROUGE, March 11—The junior livestock exhibitors had their pay day today at the annual livestock auction at the Louisiana State University Livestock Show.

The grand champion baby beef, raised by James C. Tanner of Rapides Parish, was bought by Lewis Gottlieb and V. R. Perkins, both of Baton Rouge, for $250 per pound. It weighed 985 pounds and brought a total of $2,412.50, the same amount brought by the grand champion baby beef last year.

The champion market hog brought $327.90, $2.70 per pound, and the champion fat lamb brought $7 per pound for a total of $784.

A total of 153 hogs, 137 lambs and several hundred cattle was sold, all champions or near champions.

District Teachers Meet Here Today

District delegates from the Louisiana Classroom Teachers' Association will meet here today for an annual banquet which will be addressed by N. B. (Red) Hackett, Louisiana Education Association executive secretary, and Dr. J. W. Bordelon, of the La Tech faculty.

The banquet will get underway at 12:30 this afternoon, according to Mrs. Lola Crowell, district LCTA publicity chairman.

Hackett will discuss the state of Louisiana education in the tidelands oil riches off the coast of Louisiana.

Dr. Bordelon, scheduled as the featured speaker of the banquet, will relate to the teachers his experiences while on tour of the educational system in Indo-China.

The banquet, expected to attract teachers from throughout the 14 northeast Louisiana parishes, will be held at the Frances hotel.

$61 Is Stolen At Shoe-Shine Stand

City detectives arrested a Monroe man yesterday afternoon and have charged him with theft of $61 from a shoe-shine stand in the 500 block of DeLard early Friday morning.

The man was identified by Chief of Detectives Hugh L. Tolbert, as Ralph Ike Collins, 45, who gave his address as general delivery, Monroe.

Collins was picked up by two detectives at the corner of Harris and Sixth streets, about 2:30 p.m.

Tolbert said that all the money had been recovered and that the man's bond would be at sometime today.

Sen. Long Says He Still Favors Tax Decrease

WASHINGTON, March 11 (Special)—Louisiana Sen. Russell Long told the Senate today he still favors the $20 tax reduction for each taxpayer and dependent but that he would accept a compromise.

During his speech, the senator produced figures which he said show that tax relief measures enacted last year had tended to bring more wealth to a few but had not been successful in arresting a trend toward unemployment or in increasing the nation's buying power.

He said that, since President Eisenhower came into office, the value of shares listed on the 15 American stock exchanges had increased by "staggering total of 50 billion dollars." This money, he said, was in the hands of only 10 per cent of the people, since 90 per cent own no corporation stock at all.

Asserting that one per cent of all corporation stock, Long said 450,000 well-to-do families had increased their wealth by an average of $78,000 each during the past two years. He produced figures to show that during the same period smaller manufacturing companies showed a two-thirds reduction in profit, farmers went down 10 per cent in net worth and the unemployment figure had passed the 3,000,000 mark.

Long expressed concern over the "demonstrated trend in favor of those in the upper brackets" and concluded, "our position is based upon experience and it adheres to the facts of the situation. It does not pretend that we can eliminate the rising unemployment by ignoring it and, above all, it puts the well being of the average American family first."

The pair escaped without harm when the light craft crashed late Thursday on state highway 51 east of here.

Death Pact In Orleans Murder Hinted To Police

NEW ORLEANS, March 11 (AP)—Police believed today a missing ex-serviceman may hold the solution to the slaying of 18-year-old Ronald Campbell.

Officers learned that Gerald Robichaux, 23, New Orleans, told a friend of a double-death pact he had with Campbell.

Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Campbell, New Orleans, was found shot to death yesterday in a car on the Mississippi River bridge. He and Robichaux had departed Wednesday on a fishing trip.

Jefferson Parish chief deputy John Stewart said Robichaux told a 15-year-old friend recently that it would be "the last time you will see me alive."

The youth said Robichaux told him:

"We (Robichaux and Campbell) might have to flip coins to decide how we will die."

Robichaux made the remarks while packing for the fishing trip, Stewart said.

Police thus far have no indication of what Campbell did from noon Wednesday until his body was found.

He received a traffic violation ticket shortly after noon. The patrolman who issued the ticket said the man with him at the time fitted Robichaux's description.

Police said they planned to check at Waveland, Miss., where Robichaux is supposed to have owned a fishing camp.

Officers reported two other developments today.

Fresh fingerprints were found on the death car, which belonged to Campbell's parents.

The mother of Robichaux's girl friend told officers she lent him a gun Tuesday because he said he "needed it for a job he was going on."

"Gerald borrowed the gun from me Tuesday morning, had it cleaned that day and returned to the house that night for a date with Bernadette (her daughter)," Mrs. Brent Shall said.

Mrs. Shall said she also gave him four old shells for the gun. She quoted Robichaux as saying the man who cleaned the gun told him it was a .38 caliber.

Campbell was shot in the head with a .38 caliber bullet, according to the Orleans Parish coroner's office.

The coroner's office said Campbell had been dead about 12 hours when his body was found by two railroad employees. The car was parked on the bridge only 20 minutes, the railroad men said.

Officers believe Campbell was killed elsewhere and his body driven to the bridge.

Campbell had quit school about a month ago to join the Navy. He was awaiting his call to duty.

Freak Calf Has Two Sets Of Eyes And Two Mouths

ABBEVILLE, La., March 11 (AP)—An Abbeville farmer doesn't have a two-headed calf but he has the next best thing — one with two mouths and four eyes.

The freak animal was born a week ago on the farm of Leopold Noel. Noel said the two mouths and four eyes are on what appears to be a single skull. The rest of the animal's body is normal.

Noel said the calf sees out of the two eyes on either side of its head. But the heifer is blind in the other two eyes, which are slightly above the two mouths.

A veterinarian examined the animal and reported it is healthy and should live.

Mrs. Noel said the animal becomes stronger each day and is able to eat through either mouth.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

The selection of perfume is a highly individual matter.

Perfume For Moods Impractical Idea

There are two schools of thought about perfume. One is that a woman should cling to one perfume, or it should cling to her, that it should become a sort of trademark for her.

There is much to be said for this idea. It is nostalgic and romantic and individual. Just as the scent of a certain flower or the notes of a certain melody can recall vividly someone we love or some treasured occasion, perfume can arouse memories or happy expectation.

Then there is the other school of thought, that a woman should use many perfumes (not at the same time) to fit her moods and the occasions on which she uses it.

To my way of thinking the idea of a perfume for every mood is impractical, far fetched, and much too introspective. If we went in for this we would be so busy analyzing our moods that we would not have any fun.

However, it is true that there is a difference in the type perfume which is attractive for the gala evening and for the office or regular daily living. The scent for the gala evening can be more exotic and heavier while a fresh outdoor scent is best for usual occasions.

I am leaving the most important perfume for the last. The selection of perfume is a highly individual matter. Many women fail to realize that the aroma of a perfume may be quite different on different women. The aroma depends not only on the perfume but on your skin and body chemistry. I would like to give you a few hints about selecting perfume.

1. Before you buy perfume apply it to your skin, wait a few minutes, and then decide.
2. The scent of some perfumes disappears soon after you apply them, while others may linger much longer. This depends on the oils in the perfume and also the oils in your skin. This has become so personalized that there is now even a Perfume Guide available with which to test your perfume personality.

3. The old idea of applying perfume to pulse spots (the temples, behind the ears, wrists, inside of elbows, and on the throat) is sound. Never apply it to your clothing.

Art Exhibit At Northwestern

NATCHITOCHES — Paintings selected from the permanent collection of the Mississippi Art Association of Jackson, Miss., will be on display in the Fine Arts Gallery at Northwestern State College for almost two weeks, beginning Sunday, it was announced here today by Orville Hancey, head of the N&C art department.

An informal reception from 2 to 5 p.m. on March 13 will open the exhibit. The show will continue through March 24, with the gallery remaining open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The show, which is on tour of the state, is sponsored by the Louisiana Art Association in Alexandria. It consists of 26 paintings, largely by southern artists. Mediums used are oil, easels, watercolor and silk-screen. The pictures range in style and include semi-abstract, imaginative, dramatic and realistic works. Many of the works are prize-winners in various national art exhibitions.

"Let's Go Fishing," by E. George Rodgers, a Louisiana artist, is included in the exhibit. The painting was the first purchase prize award in the 12th annual National Watercolor exhibition in May, 1953.

Hancey pointed out that the exhibit is one of general appeal and he urged everyone in the Natchitoches area interested in art to attend the exhibit.

DOROTHY DIX

Plea From Miss, 17

Girl Weighs Marriage To Air Force Boy Now, Or Breaking Engagement

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: This is the biggest problem I have ever had and I hope you can help me solve it. Last summer Bill and I started to go out together, and a month ago he went into the Air Force for four long years. He is 20, I am 17. He wants to get married on his first furlough, which will be in about two months.

I know he loves me; while he was home I was sure he would always be the one and only boy in my life. However, since he's been gone I have felt so lonely. I have passed up dates because I don't believe in dating other boys when I'm going steady.

When I see other girls having fun and think of the four years ahead, with no dates except when Bill is home, I get awfully blue. Bill told me once that if I ever sent him a "Dear John" letter he would never believe another girl as long as he lived. I don't want to hurt him, especially now when he's having a tough time with his training. Neither of our mothers wants us to get married so soon. What should I do, marry Bill now, or give him back his ring and date other boys? Wanda R.

THINK IT OVER

ANSWER: Yours isn't the only pretty little head perplexed by romance complicated by armed service obligations. Being married to a boy in the armed forces, especially if he faces overseas duty, is a tremendous job for any girl. For one as young as you it would be foolhardy.

Well, that's the conclusion; now for a few reasons: As you already have found out, dateless days can be very trying on a teen-ager. You don't know Bill too well and when he's been away for a while, you'll find his image growing more and more remote.

If he's overseas for a time, you'll forget, almost entirely, his mannerisms, the things he likes, the subjects you talked about. When he returns, he'll be almost a stranger to you and you'll both go through a trying period of readjustment—getting acquainted again. Young people live in the present. For them, the future is an unknown stretch of never-never land that belongs to grownups. The immediate thrill and glamor of being married to a boy in uniform, of making dramatic good-byes, may be sufficient for the present, but a future of lonely hours, a virtual lack of contemporary companionship, with nothing to hold onto but letters, can be very dismal. It would be much better for you to return Bill's ring when you see him. Tell him you can see the wisdom of parental advice, and think it better for you to remain on friendly terms, but to forego the "steady" relationship. He should know better than to tie a 17-year-old girl to promises that would be well nigh impossible for her to keep. Since his mother is so friendly with you, and also holds this opinion, she can talk to her son. Your mother should also discuss the matter with him. He should understand that you aren't being fickle, just sensible.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been separated for a year. For the last few months I have been dating a nice young man who is aware of my marital difficulties and he also knows that my husband is very jealous. In fact, my husband has threatened to kill anyone I go out with. I believe this was just an idle threat, however. My friend seems to be afraid. He won't come near me if he knows my husband is in town. I am expecting my divorce shortly and would like to know how to keep my boy friend interested until everything is settled.

ANSWER: I doubt if you'll be able to keep your young friend interested either before or after the divorce. Perhaps your husband's threats are just melodramatic gestures, but I wouldn't blame anyone for shying away from a situation as fraught with potential trouble as is yours. Apparently your husband is interested in a reconciliation. Why not go to a marriage counselor with your husband and give your marriage another try?

V-J Ranch Is Setting Of Miro Book Club Luncheon

One of the most enjoyable of Miro Book Club events was the Spring luncheon held Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Thomas Jett on V-J Ranch in West Monroe. Red and White cannelles were used throughout the house.

After the luncheon, the meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Jett. During the business session the newly elected president Mrs. F. L. Smith appointed the following chairmen for the ensuing year:

Home department, Mrs. John Pracher; education, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell; fine arts, Mrs. J. H. McCormick; conservation, Mrs. John Philbiol Jr.; public affairs, Mrs. Thomas Jett; community affairs, Mrs. H. L. Fluker; parliamentary, Miss Catherine Livaudais; communications, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell; international affairs, Mrs. Neal McHenry; club woman, Mrs. R. L. Wood.

The program chairman, Mrs. A. B. Myatt, introduced Mrs. B. L. Mulhern gave an interesting talk on public affairs.

She explained that "once it probably meant only those things that concerned a very small group, for instance, the first Thanksgiving must have stemmed from very vital public affairs, the government of that colony, the building of homes and protection and friendship from and with the Indians."

Mrs. A. B. Myatt gave the story of Central America which consists of the republics of Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Panama, and the colony of British Honduras.

It was pointed out that the G. F. W. C. is placing great emphasis upon religion. The theme "You are the Light of the World" is being studied by all clubwomen this year.

In closing the meeting, Mrs. Jett gave the Golden Rule of seven major world faiths . . . Hinduism, Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism, Judaism, Christianity and Islamism.

Great spiritual ideals of the peoples of the world are reflected in the seven world faiths represented in the sixty member nations of the United Nations. Each has its own Golden Rule enunciated by its respective founder prophet.

Mutual respect for each other's creed could bring about universal freedom of religion, one of the bedrocks upon which our own great nation was founded.

Members present were Mrs. George Temple, Miss Catherine Livaudais, Mrs. John Pracher, Mrs. A. B. Myatt, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. Neal McHenry, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. R. L. Wood, Mrs. F. L. Smith, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mrs. Thomas Jett.

Mrs. E. F. Hayward, Jr. Gives Review At Musical Coterie

The works and lives of modern German and Austrian composers—Richard Strauss, Ernst Toch, Arnold Schonberg and Ottorino Respighi—were reviewed by Mrs. E. F. Hayward, Jr., at the bi-monthly meeting of the Musical Coterie.

Mrs. James E. Murphy hosted the meeting which was presided over by Mrs. Grayson Guthrie, Jr., president.

It was pointed out by Mrs. Hayward that Strauss is the best known of these composers. Having been born in Munich in 1864 and educated there at the university, he composed Au-Italian, the first of his works in a programmatic vein, Mrs. Hayward explained.

She asserted that a series of remarkable tone poems followed and placed Strauss in front rank of modern composers. He was one of the few composers to have the good fortune of seeing his works become classics during his lifetime.

Reviewing the life of Toch, Mrs. Hayward explained that he too began composing early and won a series of prizes and within a few years his works were performed at leading German festivals.

Toch came to America in 1934. Mrs. Hayward stated, and lives in Los Angeles where he served as a professor at the University of Southern California. In recent years he has composed excellent music for screen productions.

Schonberg was also born in Vienna and has helped to create a school of music glorifying the twelve-tone system. He settled in this country in 1933 and joined the faculty of the University of Southern California.

Mrs. Hayward explained that Respighi, an Italian composer resigned his position at a conservatory in Rome to devote himself to conducting and composing. Having died in 1936, she stated, that he is best known for his revival of old Italian pieces in the collection of Antique Dances and Airs for the lute.

Miss Emy-Lou Biedenbarn sang "Traum Dinah Die Dammernung" by Strauss following the review. Members present were: Mrs. B.

Expert Climbers Hunt Wreckage Of Two Planes

SALT LAKE CITY, March 11 (AP)—Expert climbers and ridge-hugging pilots battled snow, clouds and jagged mountains today trying to learn what became of 10 persons aboard two lost airplanes.

They are searching an area in which aircraft have crashed and gone undiscovered for six months. Many valleys are a mile deep in this mountain country.

A ground party on snow shoes struggled up 11,500-foot Mt. Timpanogos to investigate what looked like plane wreckage glimpsed through clouds shortly before sunset yesterday.

The half dozen men of the ground party battled through snow up to nine feet deep. New snow fell on them. Avalanche conditions on Timpanogos were described as at their worst.

An Air Force pilot reported seeing wreckage about 500 feet below the mountain's summit. There was no sign of life. Snow atop a 2,000-foot cliff overhung the spot, threatening the climber.

The Air Force said the men were equipped to spend the night on the cloud-shrouded peak. But it added it hoped the men would be able to return before dark at least as far as a Ranger guard station near the 7,000-foot level.

One of the missing planes is an Air Force B-25 based at Great Falls Mont. It left Hill Air Force Base near Ogden Wednesday night for March Field in Southern California. It reported over Salt Lake City at 7:37 p.m. and then dropped from contact. Five men—two of them civilians—were aboard.

The other plane, a twin-engine Beechcraft also carrying five persons, was en route from Chicago to Arcata, Calif. It left Rock Springs, Wyo., Wednesday, checked in over Fort Bridger, Wyo., at 5:14 p.m. and then was lost, apparently in the rugged Wasatch Range in Utah. Timpanogos is the highest peak in the range.

Two park rangers, a National Parks ranger and a snow ranger of the Forest Service, accompanied by two members of the National Ski Patrol, were fighting their way up Timpanogos.

They carried radio equipment in the hope airplanes flying overhead could guide them around avalanche areas. But clouds closed in at the 8,500-foot level and the six fought the mountain unaided.

Search officials could not determine whether the wreckage—if it is wreckage—was of the B-25 or the Beechcraft. Timpanogos was well off course for either plane.

Aircraft have crashed and gone undiscovered for six months in this mountainous country where many valleys are a mile high. About 20 years ago a ship smashed into a 30-foot snowbank on Lone Peak, five miles north of Timpanogos. In December it wasn't found until June when the snow melted.

One of the five in the Beechcraft was Robert J. Willis, 33, a Chicago plywood broker. Another was 9-year-old Jacques, Willis' son. A reward of $2,000 has been offered by Willis' company for the first person who sights the plane or its wreckage. The Air Force says, however, its personnel isn't eligible for the reward because its men are performing official duties.

Local AA Group To Celebrate 9 Years Of Organization

The Monroe group of Alcoholics Anonymous is nine years old. In a way of celebration, the members are holding a series of meetings, starting today, and are sponsoring a large open meeting to be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Crystal Ballroom of the Virginia Hotel.

This meeting, being held tomorrow will be open to the public and all who are interested in the problem of alcoholism. According to local spokesmen, a special invitation has been extended to ministers, doctors, teachers and public officials whose duties bring them in contact with alcoholics.

The alcoholic anonymous movement was begun in Akron, Ohio in 1935 by two alcoholics, an Akron physician and a New York stock broker. The group has steadily grown from three members at the end of the first year to a present-day membership of about 160,000.

The local organization had its start on March 10, 1946, being composed of Monroe persons and some out-of-town individuals.

That Magic Word
By Harold W. Ruopp

Writer and former professor at Boston University
School of Theology

One day several years ago, I phoned the city editor of a large metropolitan newspaper. The editor's secretary answered. I identified myself, and asked if I could speak with the editor.

Somewhat abruptly she replied, "I doubt it; he is very busy."

My first impulse was to say that I was busy, too. Instead I replied, "I'm sorry, I simply wanted to thank him for his splendid editorial yesterday."

"Oh," she said, "just a minute I'll see if I can get him."

In a few moments the editor was on the phone, and I thanked him. Then, this busy newspaper man took 15 minutes telling me about the tribulations of a city editor, how few people ever said thanks, and, by the way, how was life treating me? When we finally hung up, I found myself saying half-aloud, "That magic word!"

Once, a postal employee studied the mail which came to the Dead Letter Office in Washington, D. C., addressed to Santa Claus. In the three months preceding Christmas, there were several thousands of letters asking for things. In the months after Christmas, there was only one card, addressed to Santa Claus, saying thanks. So quick to ask and receive — so slow to speak the magic word.

This twist in human nature is not a new one. Jesus healed ten men of leprosy and just one of the ten came back to say thank you. It helps, incidentally, to remember this if you are ever pained by people's lack of appreciation.

It was by watching my friend, the late Dr. William L. Stidger, a professor at the Boston School of Theology, that I first received the inspiration to write Thanksgiving letters.

Dr. Stidger told of one evening during the depression when he and some friends were talking about banks closing, and people out of work, and salaries going down. It was a pretty gloomy conversation.

"There sure isn't much to be thankful for," one friend said.

Finally Bill Stidger had enough. "Well, I, for one, am grateful to Mrs. Wendt," he said. Bill went on to explain that Mrs. Wendt was an old school teacher, who 30 years ago, went out of her way to introduce him to Tennyson.

"Did you ever thank her?" someone asked.

Bill had to admit he never had. But that very evening, he sat down and wrote Mrs. Wendt a few weeks later came a reply written in the uncertain scrawl of an aged woman.

"My dear Willie:

"I want you to know what your note meant to me. I am an old lady in my eighties, living alone in a small room, cooking my own meals, lonely and seeming like the last leaf on the tree . . .

"You will be interested to know, Willie, that I taught school for 50 years and in all that time yours is the first letter of appreciation I ever received. It came on a blue, cold morning and it cheered my lonely old heart as nothing has cheered me in many years."

That simple letter moved Bill Stidger to tears. Then and there he began the custom of writing letters of thanksgiving. I saw his file of answers — at that time more than 500 of them.

It was Bill's experience that got me started sending Thanksgiving letters. Letters to loved ones and

Highway 165 In N.E. L.A. Set For Modernization

U. S. Highway 165 in Ouachita and Morehouse parishes is set for modernization on the highway department construction agenda, board chairman Fred Preaus announced.

Bids will be received in Baton Rouge March 23 for widening of 13 miles of the 18-foot concrete pavement to 24 feet and resurfacing with asphalt cement. Work will begin at the junction of U. S. 165 at State highway 200 north of Monroe and proceed to the town of Bastrop.

After construction gets under way the new modern highway should be opened to two-way traffic within 12 months, Preaus said.

Saturday Crippled Children's Day

RAYVILLE, March 11 (Special) — W. H. Linton, Jr., president of the Rayville parish chapter of the National Crippled Children's Society, announced that Saturday had been proclaimed "Crippled Children's Day in Rayville Parish."

Linton said that Saturday was being set aside by the society in an effort to raise funds to take care of the many children of the area suffering from crippling conditions.

The Rayville Junior Chamber of Commerce, assisted by the Rayville Art and Civic Club plan to collect money at the traffic lights situated at the eastern, western and southern limits of the town.

A number of restaurants have promised to contribute proceeds from the sale of coffee on Saturday.

Rev. H. S. Carradine is in charge of participation of the Negro citizenship of Rayville.

Health Director Reports 1,914 People X-Rayed

JONESVILLE, March 11 (Special) — Dr. J. A. Coleman, director of the Catahoula parish health unit, said today that the recent visit of the mobile X-ray unit had resulted in 1,914 people receiving free X-rays.

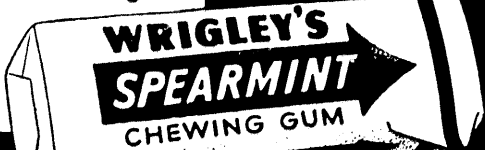

The number having X-rays made this year more than doubled the number taking advantage of the free service in past years.

Dr. Coleman said he and his staff would like to express their appreciation to people who assisted in the operating and especially the people who took time off to take advantage of the free X-ray service.

A total of 506 persons had X-rays made in Sicily Island, 75 at Manifest, 55 at Enterprise, 375 at Harrisonburg and 865 in Jonesville.

Second Call For Liquor Election To Be Given Jury

FERRISDALE, Mar. 11—(Special) — At the March meeting of the Concordia parish police jury the body will be asked for a second time to call an election to forbid sale of alcoholic in the 11th ward of the parish.

A petition will be presented with the signatures of more than one fourth of the qualified electors of the ward.

The question to be voted is divided in three parts as follows: Shall the sale of beverages of high alcoholic content containing more than six per cent alcohol by volume be permitted?

Shall the sale of beverages of low alcoholic content containing more than three and two-tenths per cent alcohol by weight and not more than six per cent alcohol by volume be permitted.

Shall the sale of beverages of high alcoholic content containing more than six per cent alcohol by volume be permitted by package only and not for consumption on the premises.

A petition seeking an election was presented at the January meeting but police jurors asked that the Clayton residents re-submit the petition since there was some question over the legality of the required time limit involved.

MEAL LIMIT

PEKIN, Ill. (AP) — Appalled at claims for $4.50 steaks served jury members, the County Board of Supervisors has placed a limit of $1.50 on meals for jurors. The board has also denied a claim for a $3.50 tip to a waitress.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

"Dear Mr. Winchell," writes H. P. Lauritzen (of Canton, Ohio and an associate member of the N. Y. Stock Exchange) "unless the press accounts of the Fulbright hearings, as they pertain to you, are too garbled to mean anything, the whole business seems rather silly. The fact is simply

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—Cotton futures close 95 cents to $1.50 a bale lower today.

Weakness in securities stimulated some of the late selling. In the cotton picture, traders were discouraged by the less optimistic views on the export situation and the slow business in cotton gray goods. The loan program as a possible element of market strength late in the season was pushed into the background at least for the time being.

From a technical standpoint, traders felt the selling today also represented a secondary reaction after futures had recovered sharply by as much as $5 a bale from the lows for the current move established last Monday.

There were no March transferable notices issued at New York with only 9,400 bales of nearby March futures still to be liquidated at the start today. Trading in the March delivery expires on Tuesday, March 15.

Long liquidation encountered the market again today, and an absence of price fixing resulted in lower values. Locals, after buying on the opening, liquidated and then sold short. New Orleans appeared a seller throughout most of the day. The March position was thin and erratic as March 15th is last trading day for that month. There were no notices in either market.

Somewhat counteracting yesterday's report regarding the reclassification of CCC stocks was a further report that this had not been definitely decided by the government. It was also believed there will be objections raised by sole of the large shippers presently controlling most of the certificated stock. Senator Abernethy reintroduced a bill in congress proposing periodic government classification of certificated stocks. The bill was defeated in the mandatory 90 PC parity price supports for cotton and five other basic commodities.

January inventories of apparel retailers were slightly higher than 1954 and January 1954 levels. Accompanying the recent market sell off was a sharp decline in the unfixed sales position for the week ending March 4. Unfixed sales declined 114,500 bales, with May accounting for 108,400 of that total. Total unfixed sales were 990,200 vs 1,078,200 a year ago. Unfixed call purchases for the same week were up 2,000 bales to 141,900 vs 127,400 last year.

Worth St. market continues quiet with 80 squares selling at 18 1/2 C in second hands.

Clayton bought ten May and 60 July and sold 80 May, 30 July and ten October. McFadden bought 50 May and 25 July and sold 30 May, five July and 15 October.

First Pilgrim Baptist Church, to erect a one story frame church building at 3904 Elm at a cost of $1500. Dr. J. J. Hunter, to erect one story frame residences at 509 and 511 Frederick at a cost of $8500 each. M. P. Fontana, to remodel two one - story frame cabins at 1802 and 1804 Grammont at a total cost of $1600. F. W. Wyatt, to erect a one story frame bait stand at 3803 Jackson at a cost of $60.

Security Chief Would Hire Risk If Necessary

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Scott McLeod, State Department security chief, said Friday he "wouldn't hesitate" to hire a security risk if that were the only way to get a necessary job done.

He told a Senate Government Operations subcommittee studying the security program he does not remember any such case actually arising. He said he would not take the risk if it could be avoided.

But he said "our policy is not to be so secure we can't get the job done." For that reason, he said, he would clear a Communist or other type of security risk "if necessary to do a job that the government had to have done."

McLeod gave a hypothetical example "a fellow with an unusual

Stocks Run Into Third Severe Fall In Single Week

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—The stock market ran into its third severe selling break of the week today and took a hard pounding.

Prices were able to withstand the worst of the pressure and managed a partial comeback late in the session.

Losses extended to between 1 and 4 points in numerous instances. Some losses at times went out to 8 points, but such extremes were unusual.

Brokers were inclined to look upon the selloff as a secondary wave of liquidation that many times comes on the heels of a primary reaction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $2.60 at $155.40. It was up 80 cents yesterday and fell $5.40 in the first three days of the week.

The industrial component of the average today was down $3.50, rails lost $3.10, and utilities were off 70 cents.

There were 1,244 individual issues traded of which only 140 advanced while 940 declined with 13 new highs and 9 new lows for 1954-55 touched.

Volume amounted to 3,040,000 shares, a total below average so far this year, but it was well above yesterday's 2,780,000 shares.

Polio Vaccination Program Here Is Slated For April

Plans for possible vaccination of large numbers of local school children next month were outlined yesterday at a conference of health, medical and school authorities and representatives of the Ouachita Parish chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at the Health Unit in Monroe.

Acknowledging the difficulty of drawing blueprints for action while the polio vaccine still is undergoing evaluation, Dr. Carrol Summer, Director, Ouachita Parish Health Unit said: "It will be April before we know if the Salk polio vaccine, developed through March of Dimes research, is effective in preventing paralytic polio and is licensed. But we can't wait till April to start getting ready. Certain cooperative steps must be taken early, to assure immediate action if the scientific report is as favorable as we hope it will be."

"Only by being prepared for good news can we take immediate advantage of it in time to protect a large number of children this year," Summer said.

The program will not be another test of the vaccine but the first use of a new preventive measure, he added. An adequate amount of vaccine for children in the first grades of all schools has been made available by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Taking a "calculated financial risk" that kept pharmaceutical houses tooled up for mass production, the National Foundation arranged to purchase enough vaccine for this project across the nation, for use if the vaccine proves effective and is licensed.

Two Sentenced For Auto Thefts

Tedo Spurlock, and Roderick D. Switzer, separately charged with auto thefts, were each given five years in the Louisiana State Penitentiary by Judge David I. Garrett, in Fourth District Court yesterday.

In other cases disposed of, Judge Garrett fined two persons $200 and costs or 90 days for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of an intoxicating liquor. The two were A. Coston and John E. Sharp.

Manassa Martin, charged with forgery, was sentenced to five years in the Louisiana State Penitentiary.

Gladys Mitchell, charged with selling beverages of low alcoholic content to minors, was found guilty and given a 30 days suspended sentence. She was also found guilty, and given a 30 day suspended sentence on a charge of "failure to close place of business, where alcoholic beverages are sold, at midnight."

Jury Acquits Texas Woman In Fatal Shooting

ENID, Okla., March 11 (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite Tatom, 37-year-old Palestine, Tex., mother, Friday was acquitted of charges she shot to death her pipeline worker husband at a trailer camp here.

The attractive housewife broke into sobs when a jury of 10 men and two women announced at 1 a.m. they had found her innocent. She had been charged with murdering her 38-year-old husband, husband, Jack Dearl Tatom.

Jurors deliberated more than seven hours before returning the verdict. At one point, they returned to the courtroom to consult with Judge F. B. H. Spellman concerning the .22 caliber pistol used to kill Tatom.

The dark-haired defendant admitted at the trial she shot Tatom nine times in their trailer house last Dec. 10, but said it was in self-defense.

Her nephew, Floyd Morris, 24, also of Palestine, testified he heard Tatom threaten his wife just before the shooting, saying, "I'm going to tear your head off." Morris said he then grabbed the Tatom's six-year-old child and fled. He said he heard the shots as he ran.

The Tatoms were living here temporarily while he worked on a construction job. They had come here from Palestine and Fort Worth.

L. S. U. Expected To Name Athletic Director Today

Believed Corbett Ready To Accept Job With Tigers

BATON ROUGE, March 11 (AP)—The Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors meet tomorrow to name a new athletic director and Jim Corbett seems certain to be the choice.

In New York, Corbett, a member of the sports staff of the National Broadcasting Company, said he had presented "a list of conditions" under which he would accept the athletic directorship at Louisiana State University.

Corbett, former LSU publicist, said the conditions had been given to the screening board, which would present them to the university's board of supervisors tomorrow. He said he planned no week-end visit to Baton Rouge.

Corbett reportedly will get a five-year contract at a salary of about $10,000 per year.

He will succeed T. P. Heard, relieved of his duties by the board Feb. 5 after 23 years on the job. Heard will continue as professor of physical education until the end of the spring term when he goes on a year's leave of absence prior to retirement.

Heard and head football coach Gaynell Tinsley were ousted at the same board session. Paul Dietzel, former Army line coach, was named Feb. 16 to replace Tinsley.

Corbett and seven others were interviewed by the six-man screening committee shortly after it began search for an athletic director. But a week later, Corbett asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

However, the committee sent him a new offer, which reportedly met his request for job tenure. It was understood that, although the athletic director's job pays less than his present post with NBC, Corbett balked over job security rather than salary.

The screening committee will present its recommendation to the joint athletic committee, composed of the board's athletic group and the athletic council at 9 a. m. tomorrow and the full board will meet at 11 a. m.

Chairman Sterling Gladden of the screening committee said "we hope to announce a new athletic director tomorrow and I don't think it will take too long."

The board also will consider two changes in the football coaching staff. Dietzel dismissed line coach Will Walls and named Bill Peterson of Mansfield, O., to work with the linemen.

Walls left the campus, although the dismissal has never been formally announced. The board must take final action on personnel changes.

The plan would place the LSU athletic program in line with recommendations by the Southeastern Conference and the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The board also is scheduled to:

1. Appoint a new library director.
2. Discuss requests to be made to the May Legislature.
3. Consider an application for an oil and gas lease on the Ben Hur plantation.

Fans Like Roman Patrol To Cop Louisiana Derby

By ED TUNSTALL
NEW ORLEANS, March 11 (AP)—Roman Patrol's favoritism in tomorrow's $40,000-added Louisiana Derby grew today as pre-race forecasts tabbed the Pin Oak farms speedster the most likely winner.

The consistent-running son of Roman has come home winner in six of his seven races, including two victories at the Fair Grounds. A triumph tomorrow would project him into the forefront in Kentucky derby consideration along with Belair stud's Nashua, winner of the Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah, an Rex Ellsworth's Swaps, winner of the Santa Anita Derby.

The Louisiana Derby, expected to draw 11 starters with a gross value of $49,500, closes the Fair Grounds 82-day winter racing season. The winner of the mile and one-eighth test will pick up $36,675 and lots of support for the turf's classics for three-year-olds this spring.

Horsemen at the Fair Grounds have been lavish in their praise of Roman Patrol. He won a six-furlong test two weeks ago by eight lengths on a sloppy track, but Jockey Doug Dodson said he was just "fooling around." Dodson says Roman Patrol doesn't like to run unless he's pressed.

Roman Patrol is owned by Robert Abercrombie, Herman Browne, William Smith and Mrs. Burnett Robinson, the former Josephine Abercrombie, all of Houston, Tex., operators of Pin Oak farm.

Prince Noor from Hasty House farms is expected to furnish Roman Patrol with his chief competition. Prince Noor won the Everglades Stakes at Hialeah Park and carries the leading money-winning record into the race with slightly more than $76,000.

Dixiana Stables has a powerful entry in Make Ready and Rogation while Clearwater stables will send Portersville to the post. Porter will be pinchhitting for Royal Colnage whom many track experts think is one of the top three-year-olds in the nation. But Royal Colnage hurt his foot last fall and did not race during the winter.

Other probable starters include Kabob, Prince Noor's running mate; Woodley Lane farm's Blue Quest, who will probably set the early pace; Dr. S. G. Babbitt's Speed Rouser; Mrs. A. M. Creech's Styrummer; E. V. Landale's Jim's Whim; and Circle K farms' King Debris.

Post time is set for around 4:50 p. m. (CST) and a crowd of 20,000.

Transylvania's Junior Tourney In Finals Today
TRANSYLVANIA, La., March 11 (Special)—The Transylvania Junior High Basketball tournament finals, with the boys' title game slated for 8:30, and the girls 7:20, will be played tomorrow night.

Boys division semi-finals are at 10:10 a. m. and 1 p. m.; and the girls semis at 11:20 and 2:10. The boys consolation tilt is scheduled for 6:10, with the girls at 5 p. m.

Today's results in the boys bracket were Lake Providence 54, Epps 47; Central won on a forfeit from Start; Central, in a later tilt, 43, Goodwill 42; and Transylvania 40, Linville 37.

The A. L. Smith juniors meet Kilbourne in a 9 a. m. quarter-tussle Saturday morning, with the winner to play Lake Providence in the afternoon semi. Central and Transylvania meet in the morning semi-final.

In the girls division, Forest beat Goodwill Friday by a 32-25 count; Start forfeited to Oak Grove; Fiske Union beat A. L. Smith 39-28; and eliminated Oak Grove 26-25 in a later tussle; and Linville defeated Pioneer, 36-28.

Girls semis Saturday pit Fiske Union against Forest at 2:10; and Transylvania vs. Linville in the 11:20 tilt.

Ralph Sims To Coach Legion Junior Baseball Here

Faulk Post Picks Man Known For His Youth Work

The American Legion Junior baseball coach for Monroe this year will be Ralph "Red" Sims, West Monroe, who yesterday was announced as the successor to Henry "Woody" Boyles by the commander of the L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion here, Bert Root.

The opening came when Boyles, who was also baseball coach at Northeast Louisiana State College, resigned to accept a position as head football coach and athletic director at Texarkana Junior College. George Luffey, a member of the Northeast football coaching staff, earlier was named baseball coach at Northeast.

Commander Root last night said Sims, a 34-year-old graduate of Ouachita Parish High School who never played prep baseball but had experience in amateur leagues and semi-pros, was the selection of the athletic committee of L. B. Faulk Post.

Sims, in the last several years, has been closely associated with athletics for youth, managing Little League and Babe Ruth League teams. His work with the young athletes last year won him the "Service to Youth Award," presented by the Optimist Club.

Reared in a rural community on Jonesboro road, Sims' only high school participation sport was volleyball, and he captained Ouachita teams that for four consecutive years won the North Louisiana Rally Association's volleyball ball tournaments at Ruston. Five and six years ago he led West Monroe volleyball ball teams to state Amateur Athletic Union titles and in 1951 his West Monroe team won the Mid-South A.A.U. Volley Ball Tournament at Memphis, Tenn.

Sims' experience as a baseball leader includes management of a team in the old North Louisiana Baseball League in the middle 1940's manager of the Colbert Hardware Little League team that won its league championship the last two years, manager of Babe Ruth League teams here in 1952-53 when the circuit was known as Little Big League; managed a West Monroe Club in the old Little Eight and Little Six amateur leagues, and for the last two years he skipped the West Monroe Vols to championships in the Delta League. A couple of years ago he was also playing for Sterling's Commercial Solvents club in the Big Eight League.

Upon being advised of his selection to direct the fortunes of the Legion Juniors here, Sims last night said he believed Monroe has the makings of another good team this year, but he won't start working with the prospects until after the high school season in May.

Campbell To Try For New Water Record

ULLSWATER, England, March 11 (AP)—Donald Malcolm Campbell said today he hopes to make his first attempt to break the American-held world water speed record in June.

The handsome 33-year old son of the late Sir Malcolm Campbell took his $75,000 hydroplane Bluebird out yesterday on a trial spin over Ullswater Lake and reached a speed of "a long way over 100 miles per hour."

The present record is 178.497 set three years ago by Stanley Sayers in Sno-mo-shun at Seattle, Wash.

Olson 10-1 Pick To Beat Vaughn In Non-Title Go

HOLLYWOOD, March 11 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Carl (Bob) Olson remained a 10-1 favorite today for his non-title 10-rounder against California Champion Willie Vaughn tomorrow night at Legion Stadium.

However, Vaughn has been up against odds like this before. In his first fight against Charlie Green he made his backers happy and wealthy by going the route and winning the battle.

Vaughn has won, lost and regained the California middle title three times. He is 22, four years younger than Olson and his heart and stamina are recognized.

"This is the big chance, and we aren't about to blow it," said his manager, Charley Gregori.

Thus there is a long chance that Vaughn might upset the world champion, but the wagering industry report practically no takers. Olson's manager, Sid Flaherty, pronounced him fit and ready. He is expected to weigh about 165 and Vaughn 164 at tomorrow's noon weigh-in.

Whatever the outcome, stadium manager Jesse Smith reports a good advance sale for the non-televized bout. He expects a full house of 6,000 and a gross gate of $30,000 which would be a new house record.

Pair Of Twin Bills Get N. I. T. Show Underway

By HUGH FULLERTON JR., NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—A lot of familiar figures will go on display tomorrow when the National Invitation Basketball Tournament opens its 18th annual one-week stand in Madison Square Garden.

The N.I.T., originally the brain child of the New York basketball writers, is the oldest major college tournament and in recent years it has fallen into a pattern that brings back many of the same teams year after year.

The 12-team tournament begins with a pair of double headers involving the eight unseeded teams. Manhattan, the only local entry, meets Louisville and Niagara plays Lafayette in the afternoon twin bill and at night Seton Hall faces St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., and St. Louis plays Connecticut.

The four seeded teams — Duquesne, Dayton, Holy Cross and Cincinnati — will take on the four winners in double headers Monday and Tuesday nights. The semi-finals are scheduled for next Thursday and the finals Saturday.

The first round field includes three teams, Manhattan, St. Louis and Seton Hall, which have played in four of the previous 17 invitation tournaments. Niagara and Louisville will be in for the fourth time.

St. Francis made an auspicious N.I.T. debut last March, due mainly to the fine performance of husky Maurice Stokes. Lafayette and Connecticut are this year's newcomers.

The field isn't as strong as it used to be before the National Collegiate A. A. expanded to take all the major conference champions into its tournament, but New York fans seem to like it. The six programs likely will draw more than 60,000 spectators.

St. Louis and Seton Hall both are former N.I.T. winners and Coach Eddie Hickey's St. Louis Billikens tied Tulsa for the Missouri Valley Conference title this season. Two seeded teams finished among the nation's top ten in the Associated Press ranking poll. Duquesne, runner-up to Holy Cross last year and winner of the Holiday Festival Tournament last December, was rated sixth and second - seeded Dayton ninth. Dayton also received an N.C.A.A. bid but chose the N.I.T. in an effort to redeem poor showings in the garden.

School 'Normal' At Irving, Texas; Await Election

IRVING, Tex., March 11—UP—Pupils in Irving schools were busy getting an education Friday, seemingly unaware that a dispute has split patrons of the district and that an election to decide on possible abolishment of their independent district is less than two weeks away.

A visit to the schools during "Public Schools Week" showed classes apparently operating normally.

Glee clubs were singing, the students seemed well-disciplined by teachers hired to replace many who walked off their jobs March 1, and everybody seemed happy. Ousted teachers and officials of the eight-school independent district have helped circulate a petition asking for an election to abolish the district and integrate it into the county school system.

This would leave the Irving school board, which fired Supt. Dr. John L. Beard, without authority to direct the schools.

Dr. Beard's firing set off a walk-out that split the schools into two factions. Taking part in the walkout were about 215 teachers, bus drivers, lunch room workers and clerical help.

Many of the teachers and other workers were replaced when the school board announced their contracts would be voided unless they returned by Mar. 7. Some teachers did return, but most of those who walked out stayed. A few said working conditions at the school were "intolerable."

Bill Asks State Power To Settle School Turmoil

AUSTIN, March 11—UP—A Denton county legislator proposed Friday the state education commissioner be armed with powers to take over control of school districts when their educational services become "disrupted," such as at Irving.

Rep. Alonzo Jamison Jr. of Sanger introduced the bill as a "legislative start on this problem." "There appears to be no present law which provides an effective means for insuring the continued daily operation of a local school system when a board-faculty disagreement disrupts or threatens to disrupt the operation of the school," Jamison said.

Jamison said in a statement he introduced the bill "on my own initiative, without consultation with any group or individuals which might be affected by this legislation." His statement did not mention the Irving school district by name.

He said the legislature might be able to find a simpler means of "minimizing the disruptive effects, upon the pupils, of major intra-school disagreements. Such disagreements may be rare, but they can happen, as we have seen."
